Vital Bridge, Other Targets Pounded Uptown Urban Renewal Reported Progressing

Buying Timetable Uncertain

Hope to Finish Hearings Rapidly

Kingston urban renewal, advanced to the point of taking property downtown, is due for advancing impetus uptown within the next two months, the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency announced today.

Reluctant to "develop a specific timetable for the next steps in the project" because of factors beyond control, the agency noted, however, that it hopes for "completion of hearings and approvals within the next two months" in advancing the uptown project.

It was emphasized, however, that "most aspects of the timing question" were not subject to the agency's control.

If plans advance as expected, it was noted, the agency would be in a position to "start buying property sometime in the late fall or early winter."

Unveiling Tonight

A scale model and sketches of the $14.6 million project are due for unveiling tonight at the Kingston Lions Club Home and Automobile Show in the state armory, Manor Avenue.

This five-by-eight foot model recreates 83 acres of Kingston's uptown business center, showing the new street network, buildings, parking areas and pedestrian malls.

New features will be related to many existing buildings worth saving, including the famous Senate House and a distinguished group of early Dutch stone houses.

The project, it was noted, has received preliminary approval of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, and hearings are due to be held in May and June by the Kingston Planning Board and Common Council.

To Help Tax Picture

Among displays at the Lions Club show, one shows that "taxes from the sections of the project to be cleared will amount to $268.00 per year after renewal, a four-fold increase over the $67,000 currently collected."

Mayor John Schwenk noted that the project is among means of advancing the city's tax base. As planned, it will involve $7.1 million in private investment and $7.46 by public agencies. Total federal grants will be $5.56 million, plus a state grant of $721,000.

Kingston will be required to share only $252,000, with the "remainder of the project cost" being "made up of credits for the $413,000 Washington Avenue viaduct" elimination project, and "improvements previously installed by the state, and $420,000 for parking lots previously provided by the city."

Reaction Mixed On Turndown of Women in Space

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. space officials apparently think a woman's place is here on earth — at least for the time being.

Some of the gals think otherwise. Some agree. Others couldn't care less.

The mixed reaction came after four women, whose names were not disclosed, were turned down Monday by the National Academy of Sciences in Washington as applicants for astronaut positions in the U.S. space program. All are men.

Thinks It's Shame

"I think it's a shame that women aren't given the same chances as men," said Jerrie Mock, a Columbus, Ohio, housewife who flew a light plane around the world last year.

Jeering Crowd Riots After Negro Dies by Shotgun

PARKESBURG, Pa. (AP) — Police said a white youth shot a Negro youth to death Monday, touching off a rock-throwing demonstration by Negroes in this southeastern Pennsylvania farming community.

An angry, jeering crowd of more than 100 children and adults alike threw rocks, smashing windows of a service station where the Negro youth was killed. There were no injuries and no arrests reported, although two unidentified white youths were taken into custody by police.

Killed by Shotgun

Police said Preston Ferguson, 16, was killed by a shotgun blast inside the Thomas Oil Co.

Taken into custody for the slaying was Theodore Houck, 15, a white youth, who attended Octorara High School with Ferguson, and works at the station.

Negroes started gathering outside the station about three hours after Ferguson was shot, hurling rocks and bricks at windows and at trucks parked nearby. Some Negroes tossed broken bottles at another station and a small group entered a restaurant, where they demanded, and got service. Police said the owner acknowledged he had never served Negroes there before. Police said other Negroes, (Continued on Page 14, Col. 8)

Another Voting March Is Set in Demopolis Today

DEMOPOLIS, Ala. (AP) — A young Negro leader bent on securing voter rights for his race said he would lead a band of civil rights demonstrators in another march toward the mayor's office today.

Calling himself an "action director," Andrew Marrisett, field worker for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, vowed defiance Monday night of a city ordinance requiring a permit to parade.

"We plan to march without a permit," Marrisett said. "We want to do away with the permit ordinance."

Similar attempts to bypass the law have resulted in use of smoke and tear-gas bombs by police.

20 Treated

More than 20 demonstrators required hospital treatment Monday after they challenged Police Chief A.E. Cooper's order to disperse. Cooper said that most of the injuries resulted when the Negroes panicked after the tear-gas barrage.

Marrisett claimed, however, that several Negroes were hurt by state troopers who forced them back into the Morning Star Baptist Church headquarters for the protest activity.

While the voter rights movement churned away, a biracial committee was meeting with city leaders to discuss chances of better employment for Negroes. The committee reported-

Bomb Insurgents Today Outside Santo Domingo

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Loyalist air force planes today bombed an encampment of insurgents outside Santo Domingo.

The insurgents, who want to return ex-President Juan Bosch from Puerto Rico, barred outsiders from the encampment, preventing an assessment of damage.

As the fighting resumed, the U.S. Navy planned to evacuate about 500 Americans who want to escape from the island.

River Is Battering Dikes Hard Volunteers Fight Rampaging Flood

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The bloated Mississippi River churned through streets, homes and fields in Illinois and Iowa today, battering relentlessly at soggy dikes while volunteers fought the river's worst spring rampage in history.

Workers faced another day of trying to hold back the water in Burlington, Iowa. The Weather Bureau in a revised forecast said the river would crest at 22.5 feet in Burlington late Wednesday.

The Quad Cities area of Iowa and Illinois with a population of 270,000, was hit again and again as the river bowled over levees and rushed unimpeded into the cities and fields.

More Removed

More residents were removed from the area Monday. More than 2,000 persons have left their homes in Illinois. Damage has been estimated at $30 million by Gov. Otto Kerner.

In Iowa, Gov. Harold Hughes made an aerial tour of the stricken area and estimated damage at $50 million. Other estimates have gone as high as $200 million. More than 3,000 persons have abandoned their homes.

The river was six feet over the 15-foot flood stage in the Quad Cities area—Rock Island, Moline and East Moline in Illinois and Davenport in Iowa. At Rock Island, it stood at 21.7 feet.

U.S. F100s Carry Out Strikes, All Return to Bases

By JOHN T. WHEELER

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force jets, after two unsuccessful tries, hit the Bai Duc Thon bridge in North Viet Nam today and buckled one of its three spans, a U.S. military spokesman said.

The bridge spans a river in a fairly deep valley 160 miles south of Hanoi. It withstood two previous poundings, one of them Monday.

Eight F100s carried out the strike on the bridge today. All the planes returned safely, and no enemy aircraft were reported seen.

Four Vietnamese Skyraiders also conducted armed reconnaissance runs over Routes 7 and 101. Then they turned on the Huu Hung highway ferry, on the Kien Giang River.

Approaches Damaged

Bombs and rockets damaged both approaches to the ferry, a pier and a large storage building.

All the aircraft returned safely. Twenty-five U.S. Air Force jets flew top cover for both the American and Vietnamese missions.

A U.S. military spokesman said U.S. jets flew 4 strikes in South Viet Nam today.

A U.S. military spokesman said government troops and U.S. Army helicopter crewmen had killed 108 Viet Cong during four widely scattered actions over the past two days.

All Prepared

The commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps said his Leathernecks "are prepared to take any steps necessary" to get their job done in Viet Nam.

Gen. Wallace W. Greene Jr. said on his arrival at Saigon Airport that while the U.S. Marine role in Viet Nam depends on what the other side may do, "we certainly will not sit on our rear ends and do nothing."

"We are here to do a job and we will do it."

Greene said the Marines had a definite assignment "to insure security of the Da Nang area." There are about 8,000 Marines ashore around the big U.S. and Vietnamese air base at Da Nang, where many of the air strikes against Communist North Viet Nam originate, and in the Hue-Phu Bai area 40 miles from Da Nang.

Meeting Guerrillas
Marine patrols pushing out from Da Nang in an increasingly wide area have been coming into contact with Viet Cong guerrilla units. There has been speculation that such activity may herald the start of full-scale combat operations by the leathernecks to hit the Viet Cong before they could close in on the base.

Britain's special envoy to Southeast Asia, Patrick Gordon Walker, said in Hong Kong that he believed the Communist Viet Cong are being beaten in South Viet Nam.

"I think there has been a considerable change for the better in the fight against the Viet Cong," Gordon Walker told newsmen while en route from Saigon to Tokyo.

In London, the British government endorsed a Soviet proposal for an international conference on Cambodia which the British think would provide an opportunity for informal peace talks on Viet Nam. But the move seemed doomed to failure.

Informed sources said the Cambodian government advised the British that Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, wants neither the United States nor the South Vietnamese to attend.

In Paris, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville had Viet Nam on the top of the agenda of their talks. The only official comment, however, was Gromyko's statement that "we have examined together the problem in Southeast Asia. The atmosphere was friendly."

Both the Soviet Union and France are anxious to force a negotiated settlement to end the Viet Nam fighting.

President Johnson's special envoy to rally Far Eastern support to U.S. policy in Viet Nam, Henry Cabot Lodge, was scheduled to stay overnight in Hong Kong before coming to Saigon Wednesday. Lodge left Seoul, Korea after discussing the Viet Nam situation with President Chung Hee Park.

Vertical Takeoff Plane Explodes, Kills Pilot

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — An experimental vertical takeoff plane faltered in flight today then crashed and exploded in flames during a public demonstration witnessed by hundreds.

The chief engineering test pilot for Ryan Aeronautical Co. of San Diego, Lou Everett, ejected but his parachute failed to open and he was killed.

Plunges Down

The jet-powered plane took off vertically as planned and maneuvered over this desert test center. Then, at about 800 feet, while the pilot was switching from conventional jet power to flight supported by fans in wings and nose, at a speed of about 140 miles per hour, it went out of control and plunged straight down.

Had all gone well, the fans would have gently pancaked the craft to a landing.

Another of the so-called XV5A research craft was in the air at the time, piloted by Army test pilot William Anderson. It experienced no difficulties during its maneuvers.

The planes were supposed to rise straight up like a helicopter, hovering, darting sideways and flying forward at high speed.

Legislature Returns Today To Resume Its Squabbling

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Legislature returned to Albany today—amidst a new round of high-level controversy—for the final phase of a session already famous for dissension.

Squabbling over the method for allocating legislative seats on a population basis and the issue of a $1.50 minimum wage was under way as lawmakers came back from a 13-day Easter-Passover recess.

The vacation followed 3½ months of fighting, first over leadership posts and then over the imposition of a sales tax to help balance a record new budget.

Democratic majority leaders conferred for more than four hours Monday and then reported they were unable to meet the May 5 deadline for producing the legislative redistricting plan ordered by a federal court.

The report on plans—and the lack of them—for the resumed session was given by Senate Majority Leader Joseph Zaretzki and Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia at a joint news conference.

Zaretzki announced there would be a delay in the previously announced plan to override Republican Gov. Rockefeller (Continued on Page 14, Col. 1)

Hard Luck Was South's Making

By JACOBY & SON

Hard luck Joe rose with dummy's king of clubs at trick one. East won with the ace and returned a club to his partner's queen.

Now West led a heart and Joe had to try and lose the heart finesse. Since West was sure to make his ace of diamonds, Joe was down one.

Joe remarked, "Well, partner, my finesses are all wrong as usual but this time we got a small profit. I had 150 honors."

Joe was eminently correct about the fact that both the ace of clubs and king of hearts were placed wrong for him. However, as usual, Joe should have made his contract.

The error occurred at trick one. Joe should have played the three of clubs from dummy!

East would have taken two club tricks but Joe would never have had to try the heart finesse. East would have remained on lead and the only way to get his partner in would have been with the ace of diamonds which would have established the diamond suit for all the discards Joe would ever need.

Of course, West might have underled the ace of clubs. In that case Joe's play of the king would have been correct and the play of the three spot would be a loser but the chance that West would have underled in ace against the strong North-South bidding was far, far less than that Joe would find the ace of clubs and the king of hearts both in the East hand.

Would You Burn up $2,500?

You might if you don't buy a home heated by modern OIL. It figures this way; with oil heat you can save up to $100 a year on fuel bills in this area. This adds up to $2,500 on the life of a 25 year mortgage. Makes sense, doesn't it? Especially since oil heat is so safe, clean and dependable. Not only that, oil heats water faster than your family can use it!

NEW YORK (AP) — "What does Jackie Gleason drink from his cup?" asks a reader of the column. "Is it coffee?"

This occasional Gleason humor at once decided that if there is coffee in Mr. G's cup, it may possibly be the very worst coffee in the world if one judged by the Great One's reaction to an occasional sip.

However, a question of such grave import deserves something more authoritative than a guess, so attempts were made to get the answer from, so to speak, the horse's mouth. Gleason, however, was not available because he is incommunicado for the next three days cutting a new record album.

The next best source was CBS' official Gleason authority. "Ah yes," said the Gleason authority. "We get many requests for this information."

Then came a little pause followed by the cautiously worded statement: "We tell them that he says it is coffee."

There is, however, an unconfirmed rumor around Miami that the beverage in the cup is champagne. This, too, may be discounted, because, unless it is very sour champagne indeed, no connoisseur even had such a violent reaction to a sip of a fine wine.

The Peabody Awards for distinguished achievement, made Monday, contain some irony, not unusual in awards-giving in television.

NBC's "Hall of Fame" series, one recipient, is one of the few remaining dramatic anthologies in the medium; Burr Tillstrom performed his award-winning manual pantomime on the opening show of this season's "That Was the Week That Was," a series now canceled. "Profiles in Courage," another winner, was based on John F. Kennedy's book and cannot be extended.

NBC's handsome special "The Louvre," and "CBS" Reports certainly were outstanding programs and worthy of recognition. And ABC's William H. Lawrence is an intelligent, responsible journalist.

Prospects Are U.S. Court To Act on Reapportionment

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Prospects have increased for direct federal court action in solving legislative reapportionment problems that New York Democrats and Republicans have battled over for 10 months.

The new developments took shape Monday as Legislative leaders announced that a reapportionment plan could not be enacted in time to meet a May 5, court-imposed deadline.

That deadline already had been extended from April 1.

If the court eventually tires of legal and political wrangling over redistributing legislative seats, it could establish a bipartisan commission to do the reapportionment work. Or, the court could order that November's legislative election be held at large — with all candidate's running statewide.

At a news conference Monday, Senate Majority Leader Joseph Zaretzki and Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia said that reapportionment legislation would not be completed by May 5 and probably not by May 7 — the date of a court hearing on reapportionment.

Travia said a public hearing will be held May 5 on a redistricting plan for the Assembly. Reapportionment committee is working on the redistricting plans to replace GOP plans ruled invalid in the courts. Zaretzki and Travia said the Federal Court would be notified of the committee's recommendations.

The district court, however, has not called for recommendations. It specifically ordered the Legislature to enact "into law a valid reapportionment scheme that is in compliance with the 14th amendment of the United States Constitution and which shall be implemented so as to effect the election of members of the Legislature at the election in November, 1965."

The court gave the order last July 27 when it allowed the state to hold the 1964 legislative election under an apportionment formula struck down by the U. S. Supreme Court on June 15.

The nation's highest tribunal decreed that all legislative seats should be distributed on the basis of population.

Republicans are fighting in the courts to salvage a plan they passed in the waning days of their control of the Legislature last December.

The apportionment ordered by the U.S. Supreme Court will mean a shift in legislative seats from Upstate to the New York City area, which contains about two-thirds of the state's population.

Following the Democratic leaders' announcement, Senate Minority Leader Earl W. Brydges declared, "The Democratic Majorities are simply incapable of providing good government."

The Peabody Awards for distinguished achievement, made Monday, contain some irony, not unusual in awards-giving in television.

NBC's "Hall of Fame" series, one recipient, is one of the few remaining dramatic anthologies in the medium; Burr Tillstrom performed his award-winning manual pantomime on the opening show of this season's "That Was the Week That Was," a series now canceled. "Profiles in Courage," another winner, was based on John F. Kennedy's book and cannot be extended.

NBC's handsome special "The Louvre," and "CBS' Reports" certainly were outstanding programs and worthy of recognition. And ABC's William H. Lawrence is an intelligent, responsible journalist.

Prospects Are U.S. Court To Act on Reapportionment

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Prospects have increased for direct federal court action in solving legislative reapportionment problems that New York Democrats and Republicans have battled over for 10 months.

The new developments took shape Monday as Legislative leaders announced that a reapportionment plan could not be enacted in time to meet a May 5, court-imposed deadline.

That deadline already had been extended from April 1. If the court eventually tires of legal and political wrangling over redistributing legislative seats, it could establish a bipartisan commission to do the reapportionment work. Or, the court could order that November's legislative election be held at large — with all candidate's running statewide.

At a news conference Monday, Senate Majority Leader Joseph Zaretzki and Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia said that reapportionment legislation would not be completed by May 5 and probably not by May 7 — the date of a court hearing on reapportionment.

Travia said a public hearing will be held May 5 on a redistricting plan for the Assembly. Reapportionment committee is working on the redistricting plans to replace GOP plans ruled invalid in the courts.

Zaretzki and Travia said the Federal Court would be notified division of the Dutchess County Society for Mental Health, is co-operating in the course, which will meet six Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 10.

of the committee's recommendations.

The district court, however, has not called for recommendations. It specifically ordered the Legislature to enact "into law a valid reapportionment scheme that is in compliance with the 14th amendment of the United States Constitution and which shall be implemented so as to effect the election of members of the Legislature at the election in November, 1965."

The court gave the order last July 27 when it allowed the state to hold the 1964 legislative election under an apportionment formula struck down by the U. S. Supreme Court on June 15.

The nation's highest tribunal decreed that all legislative seats should be distributed on the basis of population.

Republicans are fighting in the courts to salvage a plan they passed in the waning days of their control of the Legislature last December.

The apportionment ordered by the U.S. Supreme Court will mean a shift in legislative seats from Upstate to the New York City area, which contains about two-thirds of the state's population.

Following the Democratic leaders' announcement, Senate Minority Leader Earl W. Brydges declared, "The Democratic Majorities are simply incapable of providing good government."

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTION

Four candidates are in the running for two vacancies which will exist on the Board of Trustees of the Kingston Consolidated School Board. The election for these two five-year terms will be held May 4.

There has been a disgraceful display of apathy by citizens of the school district in past elections. Last year 2,100 cast votes in the Kingston Consolidated School District to fill three seats on the board of education. This was but a token vote when we consider that there were some 32,000 eligible voters. In 1963, the vote was approximately 3,800 and in 1962 the number of votes cast was 3,361.

Reflecting upon the increased number of eligible voters from year to year, the figures indicate that we care less and less about selecting members of the education board. Is it possible that the shameful response, the appalling indifference and negativism displayed here is the result of an ineffectual approach to the selection of candidates?

Board members are as important to our education system as are professional educators. The administration of our schools is an essential function of our government and the expenditures of some seven million dollars are among the largest that local taxpayers must meet every year.

Taxpayers who fail to go to the polls forfeit their right to complain about the administration of the school system or the school taxes.

The board of education holds the legal responsibility for public education in the district. It is responsible in the broad sense for school policy and it has the final say on the budget. Since the school system is an independent unit of government and derives its power from the state, the board also represents the people of the entire state in its relationship to the local school system.

The best qualified candidates should receive the support of all eligible voters. A candidate who seeks the office of trustee should have definite ideas on the subject of education and should know the difference between policy making and administration. He also should have an unselfish interest in the child, school and community and should desire the position only as an opportunity to serve. It also is essential that the candidate be prepared to give the necessary time to the work of the board in order to render this service.

The appearance of candidates at public meetings give citizens an opportunity to acquaint themselves with those who wish to serve on the school board.

Eligible voters should get as much information as possible about the candidates and then go to the polls and vote.

When voters are alert and well informed on the needs and services of the school district, the chances are they will elect the best qualified candidates available.

SOUND LIKE CAPITALISTS

The more the Marxists talk, the more they begin to sound like capitalists.

Premier Kosygin has announced that Russia's next five-year plan will concentrate on raising both the production of consumer goods, with emphasis on private cars, and the incomes of workers so that they will be able to buy the new goods.

Voicing words that could have come from any Western textbook on capitalism, Kosygin added a caution:

"Wages must be placed in direct relationship to increases in labor productivity and growth of production."

Speaking of capitalists and capitalism, however, as Michigan Gov. George Romney did the other day, these are the words that in his opinion ought to be dropped from the vocabulary because our use of them plays into the hands of Communist propagandists.

"Around the world," he said, "capitalism is usually considered as an economic system in which the economy is controlled by the few, who benefit from the efforts of the many."

The system we actually have, said Romney, is "consumerism." Ultimate control of the economy rests with the many — "through the free and daily economic ballot of customers in the marketplace."

America, said Romney, buried classical

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
RONALD REAGAN'S EDUCATION

Why is it that Republicans, who haven't the ghost of a chance of staging a political comeback if they don't set some limits to their internecine warfare, persist in trying to destroy the availability of any new potential party luminary before he has had any real chance to shine?

Several weeks ago ex-Governor Goodie Knight of California raised the issue of actor and TV-star Ronald Reagan's "left wing record" as of the mid-Nineteen Forties. Reagan, on the basis of a great speech made in the closing stages of the 1964 Republican Presidential campaign, must be considered a Republican hope in a world that is almost bereft of such hopes. There was no point in trying to cut Reagan up for youthful associations that contributed vastly to his awareness of what Communists are doing, for knowledge of how the Left operates and schemes to put over its policies is something in which most Republicans, including Goodie Knight, are woefully deficient. Goodie Knight was properly reprimanded, both in this column and elsewhere, for his foolishness in trying to slap Reagan down for having a "left-wing record" that does not "inspire confidence among Republicans."

The will to suicide among Republicans, however, is apparently limitless. For here we have Harvey Mydland, a past president of the California Republican Assembly, insisting that Goodie Knight's assertion of Reagan's "left-wing record" be itemized to the last inch, for all the world as if Reagan were being cited as a suspicious character by the late Senator Joe McCarthy. Reagan, Mr. Mydland writes, signed or sponsored Leftist protests on our atomic and Far Eastern policies along with Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas, Colonel Evans Carlson, and the chairman of the Communist Party in the Los Angeles area. And speaking "without malice," Mr. Mydland goes on to tell about the appearance of Ronald Reagan in a series of broadcasts sponsored by the Mobilization for Democracy in cooperation with the Hollywood Writers Mobilization. The Mobilization for Democracy was named by the House Committee on Un-American Activities as "one of the most potentially potent front organizations created by California Communists since 1945." As for the Hollywood writers Mobilization, it was the direct successor to the Pacific Coast branch of the Communist-manipulated League of American Writers.

Well, so what and ho hum. This record of having had his nose rubbed in the Communist conspiracy is not something that Ronald Reagan is trying to hide. In his own recent book, "Where's the Rest of Me?", Mr. Reagan tells all about his experiences as a returned army veteran of 1946, when he was looking for an evangelistic outlet for his overwhelming desire to "save the world from neo-Fascism." "I was," he writes, "blindly and busily joining every organization I could find that would guarantee to save the world. I was not sharp about Communism; the Russians still seemed to be our allies. . . . In that era, the American Communists were high on the Hollywood hog, but only by reason of deception. Most of us called them liberals and, being liberal ourselves, bled down with them with no thought for the safety of our wallets."

Ronald Reagan got his first intimation that his "liberal" friends were not on the level when he substituted for Jimmy Roosevelt in making a forty-minute speech. He received "riotous applause more than twenty times" for his denunciation of Fascism. "Then," so he recalls, "I denounced Communism. The silence was ghastly. I stumbled off the stage into the clasp of a friend whose face reflected my own amazement." From this time on, says Mr. Reagan, "I determined to do my own research, find out my own facts. . . . I owe it to that period that I managed to sort out a lot of items in my personal life. From being an active (though unconscious) partisan in what is now and then turned out to be Communist causes, I little by little became disillusioned or perhaps, in my case, I should say awakened."

Ronald Reagan has had a most valuable education in the ways of the Communists. He should be welcomed by every Republican who prizes knowledge, the aching dearth of which in high places is almost certain to be the ruin of the United States.

The DOCTOR SAYS

Self-Examination Needed To Spot Signs of Cancer

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Although cancer control is important every month in the year, April is the official cancer control month.

Breast cancer is the most common form of cancer in women. Early diagnosis is the key to the prevention of death from this disease, but the diagnosis is still not being made early enough to lower the death rate.

Finding the disease early is something every woman must be taught to do for herself.

In the self-examination of the breast for tumors it is important to make firm pressure on the breasts with the flat of the hand because small nodules of breast tissue cannot be felt in any breast if only the finger tips are used. Remember—the flat of the hand.

Most lumps in the breast are benign but, when a small lump is detected, it should be examined by a doctor without delay. A lump that is only half an inch in diameter can be removed with fair assurance of obtaining a cure. But most cancers are about 2 inches in diameter. This means that they have been present in a detectable state for 6 to 12 months and the chance that they have already spread to other parts of the body is great.

The doctor can tell whether or not a tumor in the breast is malignant only by a biopsy—taking a small piece of tissue for microscopic examination. Another aid to diagnosis is mammography, or X-ray of the breast in profile. X-ray specialists have been able by this method to make a correct diagnosis of breast cancer without biopsy in 97 per cent of the breasts examined.

Thermography is the most recent method of making a diagnosis of breast cancer. It consists of scanning the breasts with a heat-sensitive device. The presence of a cancer is detected through the fact that a cancer gives off more heat than normal tissue. This technique often shows the presence of a malignant tumor that cannot be felt or detected by X-ray.

Self-examination, however, remains the simplest and most practical way of finding breast cancers in the early stages. This is because having a routine examination by a doctor once a year, as many women do, is not enough. Every woman should examine herself at least once a month.

Local American Cancer Society units can lend your church or civic women's group a movie free of charge, which will show the proper procedure.

Headline: U. S. Seeks Allies' Support for Viet Nam Policies. But the allies are too busy trading with Hanoi to think about such things as policy.

"I Haven't Had a Square Meal Since Lunch!"

Washington News

BY RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A vague outline is taking shape of the treaty Ho Chi Minh hopes to get in South Viet Nam.

From hints Hanoi officials and some prisoners let drop, it seems Ho will seek:

- Some key posts for Reds in the Saigon government. Recent resignations of South Vietnamese from Ho's government may be designed to have these men available as nominees for Saigon posts. North Vietnamese now hold offices in Laos after having taken Lao names and Lao birth certificates made in Hanoi.
- Local (Red) self-government for some South Viet Nam areas. (These would become bases the Viet Cong could use to prepare for future breakouts.)
- Incorporation of some VC troops in the South Viet Nam army. They would patrol the Red-dominated communities.
- Evaluation of "all" foreign troops from South Viet Nam.

If agreed to, that would mean only U. S. troops would leave. The North Vietnamese don't admit they are in the south. North Vietnamese troops are still in Laos, years after the treaty that required them to leave.

Ho's Southern Expeditionary Force of North Vietnamese troops would get revised birth certificates and remain as "native" southerners. A few might return north in a token show of co-operation and then sneak back along the Ho Chi Minh trail.

- Elections on unification of North and South Viet Nam.

HO'S TERRORISTS COULD ENFORCE 100 per cent 'loyalty' in the north and in VC-controlled South Viet Nam areas. His underground could freighen a sizeable number of anti-unification people from the polls in Saigon-controlled territory.

If precedent is any guide, Ho would insist either on no inspection or a three-country inspection team to enforce the treaty — with one Communist member and one weak or pro-Red neutral. The Communist on the team could be counted on to veto or slow down action by the team and make it impossible to bar a heavy flow of weapons from Hanoi to the VC.

Experience in Laos and in South Viet Nam after the treaty which divided the country, shows that protests against such inspection teams and even protests by inspection team members are wasted effort.

Under such a treaty, Hanoi and the VC could carry on in the past, but with greater freedom. Red infiltration of South Vietnamese hamlets would be facilitated. The flow of Red materials, VC terrorism and VC political expansion would continue. So would radio orders from Hanoi.

SUPPOSING THESE RED IDEAS ARE REJECTED?

By treaty, how does one stop Hanoi from sending instructions to its South Viet Nam underground?

How does one get rid of guerrilla fighters with forged identity cards?

How does one eradicate the assassination-enforced Red shadow rule in a hamlet?

How does one keep arms from coming south by sea and down the Ho Chi Minh trails?

Britain declined to grant independence to the self-governing colony of Rhodesia until voting rights are broadened to include most native Africans. They outnumber voters of European origin by two million to 200,000.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I was very pleased with the response I received on writing about Old Gardens of Kingston by Julia McEntee Dillon, a famous flower artist. Perhaps one of the reasons this column was so pleasing to many is because we are now coming to warm weather when folks want to be outdoors in their gardens, to try and forget that every day seems to bring nothing but problems in our most modern way of life: wars, destruction here and abroad, and now it seems to be knocking at the door of our own little communities.

In the Wednesday, March 3, 1965 New York Herald Tribune under Fashions and Home, there is an article by Eugenia Sheppard on Mrs. Adam Gimbel, known to the garment industry as Sophie. She dresses the most fashionable women, yet right after her work at Saks Fifth Avenue's famous salon she goes to her five floor town house in New York, changes into a plaid shirt, dungarees and sneakers and down to the basement to work on her famous flowers. Under proper light and heat she raises her prize flowers from seedlings and then personally transplants them in her New Jersey garden. At Holmdel, N. J. the Gimbel's have the oldest house in Monmouth County. It is over 250 years old with a historic background. She says about it, "It's made of old shingles, not pretty outside but charming when you're in. I've early American furniture. . . . When I can get to the country and put on old clothes, I forget everything." Newspaper photographers and society editors are used to seeing her in jeweled chignons at charity balls or stepping out of her limousine on first nights at the theatre, wrapped in expensive furs, yet her greatest pleasure is what most anyone in Ulster County can enjoy, digging in the garden.

Perhaps now while our historic old stone houses are still standing, and other famous mansions,

United States Censorship Policy in Viet Is Assailed

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Editors at their annual meetings in New York and Washington in recent days have been discussing the policy of the Johnson administration in dealing with the news emanating from the battle areas in Viet Nam.

What seems to have aroused most of the criticism is the clumsy way the Administration has been handling the problem, rather than the objectives sought. For everyone agrees that, when American lives are being risked in a war, the press should co-operate in withholding any information which might possibly get to the enemy and impair the effectiveness of this country's military operations.

Both in World War I and in World War II there prevailed what was called a "voluntary censorship," and the press effectively withheld military information that could possibly benefit the enemy. The press was fully acquainted with the dangers of letting the other side know anything about plans, including the departure of planes or ships to secret destinations.

There would be no difficulty at all today if the Administration here were to allow these matters to be handled solely by the military, so that only information relating to troop movements or air and naval operations would be temporarily suppressed. What seems to have stirred up the controversy is that the Administration has put in the hands of a propaganda agency officer the task of acting virtually as a censor.

Not only is he permitted to withhold information about certain diplomatic activities but he also seems to be able to prevent the newspapermen from covering the Viet Nam war in the places where they ought to be permitted to go.

In the major wars of history, our military authorities have always provided facilities for war correspondents. These newsmen spend much of their time with the fighting forces, but do not send out dispatches which could possibly transmit any important information to our adversaries.

The assigning of a member of the staff of the United States Information Service—established by Congress as a propaganda organization—to deal with the press at Saigon and to withhold military information is not in line with historical precedent or custom. It is not surprising, therefore, that newspaper editors have severely criticized such a procedure.

Secrecy is of the utmost importance, but it should be confined entirely to military matters. The press should be free to make its own comments whenever it wishes, provided it does not disclose military plans. But even the news of military operations should not be permanently suppressed.

There comes a time, after the event, when it is proper for a disclosure to be made so that the American people will know what has really happened. The timing of such an announcement might well be within the discretion of the military authorities, but to hold it back indefinitely contradicts basic American practice in dealing with the press during a war.

It has been argued by some of the newspaper editors that they cannot comment effectively on military operations if they are not permitted to get the facts of what actually is happening. Thus, sometimes equipment will be unsatisfactory and certain types of guns or planes will have been used which are not suited for the operations in which they are employed. All this is something which can better be examined, perhaps, by committees of Congress, though critical articles written on the spot in war areas often point up the necessity for such investigations.

Perhaps the whole controversy would not have reached the climax that it has in recent weeks if there had not been a prelude—namely, an era of so-called "managed news" at the Pentagon. This has left an unfortunate bluish on the record. For when the only news given out is designed to accomplish a political purpose confidence on the part of the public in the accuracy of what is printed is bound to wane.

Fundamentally, there is no sound reason for suppressing the news of military operations altogether. The only issue is when such announcements should be permitted. Also, criticism of military operations should be carefully weighed by newspapermen, lest they disclose data which the enemy should not be allowed to get.

There have been sharp comments from government officials concerning the dispatches written by correspondents in Viet Nam who have been merely exercising their right to express opinions on the diplomatic aspects of the war. There has been, to be sure, a lot of news from various countries on the delicate subject of peace negotiations, and this, in some instances, the Administration would probably have preferred to see handled with more caution. But the right of the press to discuss non-military news is inherent in a system such as has long prevailed in America during war and peace.

There has been a disgraceful display of apathy by citizens of the school district in past elections. Last year 2,100 cast votes in the Kingston Consolidated School District to fill three seats on the board of education. This was but a token vote when we consider that there were some 32,000 eligible voters. In 1963, the vote was approximately 3,800 and in 1962 the number of votes cast was 3,361.

Reflecting upon the increased number of eligible voters from year to year, the figures indicate that we care less and less about selecting members of the education board. Is it possible that the shameful response, the appalling indifference and negativism displayed here is the result of an ineffectual approach to the selection of candidates?

Board members are as important to our education system as are professional educators. The administration of our schools is an essential function of our government and the expenditures of some seven million dollars are among the largest that local taxpayers must meet every year.

Taxpayers who fail to go to the polls forfeit their right to complain about the administration of the school system or the school taxes.

The board of education holds the legal responsibility for public education in the district. It is responsible in the broad sense for school policy and it has the final say on the budget. Since the school system is an independent unit of government and derives its power from the state, the board also represents the people of the entire state in its relationship to the local school system.

The best qualified candidates should receive the support of all eligible voters. A candidate who seeks the office of trustee should have definite ideas on the subject of education and should know the difference between policy making and administration. He also should have an unselfish interest in the child, school and community and should desire the position only as an opportunity to serve. It also is essential that the candidate be prepared to give the necessary time to the work of the board in order to render this service.

The appearance of candidates at public meetings give citizens an opportunity to acquaint themselves with those who wish to serve on the school board.

Eligible voters should get as much information as possible about the candidates and then go to the polls and vote.

When voters are alert and well informed on the needs and services of the school district, the chances are they will elect the best qualified candidates available.

SOUND LIKE CAPITALISTS

The more the Marxists talk, the more they begin to sound like capitalists.

Premier Kosygin has announced that Russia's next five-year plan will concentrate on raising both the production of consumer goods, with emphasis on private cars, and the incomes of workers so that they will be able to buy the new goods.

Voicing words that could have come from any Western textbook on capitalism, Kosygin added a caution:

"Wages must be placed in direct relationship to increases in labor productivity and growth of production."

Speaking of capitalists and capitalism, however, as Michigan Gov. George Romney did the other day, these are the words that in his opinion ought to be dropped from the vocabulary because our use of them plays into the hands of Communist propagandists.

"Around the world," he said, "capitalism is usually considered as an economic system in which the economy is controlled by the few, who benefit from the efforts of the many."

The system we actually have, said Romney, is "consumerism." Ultimate control of the economy rests with the many — "through the free and daily economic balloting of customers in the marketplace."

RONALD REAGAN'S EDUCATION

Why is it that Republicans, who haven't the ghost of a chance of staging a political comeback if they don't set some limits to their internecine warfare, persist in trying to destroy the availability of any new potential party luminary before he has had any real chance to shine?

Several weeks ago ex-Governor Goodie Knight of California raised the issue of actor and TV-star Ronald Reagan's "left wing record" as of the mid-Nineteen Forties. Reagan, on the basis of a great speech made in the closing stages of the 1964 Republican Presidential campaign, must be considered a Republican hope in a world that is almost bereft of such hopes. There was no point in trying to cut Reagan up for youthful associations that contributed vastly to his awareness of what Communists are doing, for knowledge of how the Left agitates and schemes to put over its policies is something in which most Republicans, including Goodie Knight, are woefully deficient. Goodie Knight was properly reprimanded, both in this column and elsewhere, for his foolishness in trying to slap Reagan down for having a "left-wing record" that, does not "inspire confidence among Republicans."

The will to suicide among Republicans, however, is apparently limitless. For here we have Harvey Mydland, a past president of the California Republican Assembly, insisting that Goodie Knight's assertion of Reagan's "left-wing record" be itemized to the last inch, for all the world as if Reagan were being cited as a suspicious character by the late Senator Joe McCarthy. Reagan, Mr. Mydland writes, signed or sponsored Leftist protests on our atomic and Far Eastern policies along with Congressman Helen Gahagan Douglas, Colonel Evans Carlson, and the chairman of the Communist Party in the Los Angeles area. And speaking "without malice," Mr. Mydland goes on to tell about the appearance of Ronald Reagan in a series of broadcasts sponsored by the Mobilization for Democracy in cooperation with the Hollywood Writers Mobilization. The Mobilization for Democracy was named by the House Committee on Un-American Activities as "one of the most potentially potent front organizations created by California Communists since 1945." As for the Hollywood writers Mobilization, it was the direct successor to the Pacific Coast branch of the Communist-manipulated League of American Writers.

Well, so what and ho hum. This record of having had his nose rubbed in the Communist conspiracy is not something that Ronald Reagan is trying to hide. In his own recent book, "Where's the Rest of Me?", Mr. Reagan tells all about his experiences as a returned army veteran of 1946, when he was looking for an evangelistic outlet for his overwhelming desire to "save the world from neo-Fascism." "I was," he writes, "blindly and busily joining every organization I could find that would guarantee to save the world. I was not sharp about Communism: the Russians still seemed to be our allies . . . In that era, the American Communists were high on the Hollywood hog, but only by reason of deception. Most of us called them liberals and, being liberal ourselves, bedded down with them with no thought for the safety of our wallets."

Ronald Reagan got his first intimation that his "liberal" friends were not on the level when he substituted for Jimmy Roosevelt in making a forty-minute speech. He received "riotous applause more than twenty times" for his denunciation of Fascism. "Then," so he recalls, "I denounced Communism. The silence was ghastly. I stumbled off the stage into the clasp of a friend whose face reflected my own amazement." From this time on, says Mr. Reagan, "I determined to do my own research, find out my own facts . . . I owe it to that period that I managed to sort out a lot of items in my personal life. From being an active (though unconscious) partisan in what is now and then turned out to be Communist causes, I little by little became disillusioned or perhaps, in my case, I should say awakened."

Ronald Reagan has had a most valuable education in the ways of the Communists. He should be welcomed by every Republican who prizes knowledge, the aching dearth of which in high places is almost certain to be the ruin of the United States.

The DOCTOR SAYS

Self-Examination Needed
To Spot Signs of Cancer

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Although cancer control is important every month in the year, April is the official cancer control month.

Breast cancer is the most common form of cancer in women. Early diagnosis is the key to the prevention of death from this disease, but the diagnosis is still not being made early enough to lower the death rate.

Finding the disease early is something every woman must be taught to do for herself.

In the self-examination of the breast for tumors it is important to make firm pressure on the breasts with the flat of the hand and use small nodules of breast tissue cannot be felt in any breast if only the finger tips are used. Remember—the flat of the hand.

Most lumps in the breast are benign but, when a small lump is detected, it should be examined by a doctor without delay. A lump that is only half an inch in diameter can be removed with fair assurance of obtaining a cure. But most cancers of the breast, when first seen by a doctor, are about 2 inches in diameter. This means that they have been present in a detectable state for 6 to 12 months and the chance that they have already spread to other parts of the body is great.

The doctor can tell whether or not a tumor in the breast is malignant only by a biopsy—taking a small piece of tissue for microscopic examination. Another aid to diagnosis is mammography, or X-ray of the breast in profile. X-ray specialists have been able by this method to make a correct diagnosis of breast cancer without biopsy in 97 per cent of the breasts examined.

Thermography is the most recent method of making a diagnosis of breast cancer. It consists of scanning the breasts with a heat-sensitive device. The presence of a cancer is detected through the fact that a cancer gives off more heat than normal tissue. This technique often shows the presence of a malignant tumor that cannot be felt or detected by X-ray.

Self-examination, however, remains the simplest and most practical way of finding breast cancers in the early stages. This is because having a routine examination by a doctor once a year, as many women do, is not enough. Every woman should examine herself at least once a month.

Local American Cancer Society units can lend you a chart or civic women's group a movie free of charge, which will show the proper procedure.

Headline: U. S. Seeks Allies' Support for Viet Nam Policies. But the allies are too busy trading with Hanoi to think about such things as policy.

"I Haven't Had a Square Meal Since Lunch!"

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A vague outline is taking shape of the treaty Ho Chi Minh hopes to get in South Viet Nam.

From hints Hanoi officials and some prisoners let drop, it seems Ho will seek:

- Some key posts for Reds in the Saigon government. Recent resignations of South Vietnamese from Ho's government may be designed to have these men available as nominees for Saigon posts. North Vietnamese now hold offices in Laos after having taken Lao names and Lao birth certificates made in Hanoi.
- Local (Red) self-government for some South Viet Nam areas. (These would become bases the Viet Cong could use to prepare for future breakouts.)
- Incorporation of some VC troops in the South Viet Nam army. They would patrol the Red-dominated communities.
- Evaluation of "all" foreign troops from South Viet Nam.

If agreed to, that would mean only U. S. troops would leave. The North Vietnamese don't admit they are in the south. North Vietnamese troops are still in Laos, years after the treaty that required them to leave.

Ho's Southern Expeditionary Force of North Vietnamese troops would get revised birth certificates and remain as "native" southerners. A few might return north in a token show of co-operation and then sneak back along the Ho Chi Minh trail.

• Elections on unification of North and South Viet Nam.

HO'S TERRORISTS COULD ENFORCE 100 per cent "ayes" in the north and in VC-controlled South Viet Nam areas. His underground could frighten a sizeable number of anti-unification people from the polls in Saigon-controlled territory.

If precedent is any guide, Ho would insist either on no inspection or a three-country inspection team to enforce the treaty — with one Communist member and one weak or pro-Red neutral. The Communist on the team could be counted on to veto or slow down action by the team and make it impossible to bar a heavy flow of weapons from Hanoi to the VC.

Experience in Laos, and in South Viet Nam after the treaty which divided the country, shows that protests against such inspection teams and even protests by inspection team members are wasted effort.

Under such a treaty, Hanoi and the VC could carry on as in the past, but with greater freedom. Red infiltration of South Vietnamese hamlets would be facilitated. The flow of Red materials, VC terrorism and VC political expansion would continue. So would radio orders from Hanoi.

SUPPOSING THESE RED IDEAS ARE REJECTED?

By treaty, how does one stop Hanoi from sending instructions to its South Viet Nam underground?

How does one get rid of guerrilla fighters with forged identity cards?

How does one eradicate the assassination-enforced Red shadow life in a hamlet?

How does one keep arms from coming south by sea and down the Ho Chi Minh trails?

Britain declined to grant independence to the self-governing colony of Rhodesia until voting rights are broadened to include most native Africans. They outnumber voters of European origin by two million to 200,000.

United States Censorship Policy in Viet Is Assailed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Editors at their annual meetings in New York and Washington in recent days have been discussing the policy of the Johnson administration in dealing with the news emanating from the battle areas in Viet Nam.

What seems to have aroused most of the criticism is the clumsy way the Administration has been handling the problem, rather than the objectives sought. For everyone agrees that, when American lives are being risked in a war, the press should co-operate in withholding any information which might possibly get to the enemy and impair the effectiveness of this country's military operations.

Both in World War I and in World War II there prevailed what was called a "voluntary censorship," and the press effectively withheld military information that could possibly benefit the enemy. The press was fully acquainted with the dangers of letting the other side know anything about plans, including the departure of planes or ships to secret destinations.

There would be no difficulty at all today if the Administration here were to allow these matters to be handled solely by the military, so that only information relating to troop movements or air and naval operations would be temporarily suppressed. What seems to have stirred up the controversy is that the Administration has put in the hands of a propaganda agency officer the task of acting virtually as a censor.

Not only is he permitted to withhold information about certain diplomatic activities but he also seems to be able to prevent the newspapers from covering the Viet Nam war in the places where they ought to be permitted to go.

In the major wars of history, our military authorities have always provided facilities for war correspondents. These newsmen spend much of their time with the fighting forces, but do not send out dispatches which could possibly transmit any important information to our adversaries.

The assigning of a member of the staff of the United States Information Service—established by Congress as a propaganda organization—to deal with the press at Saigon and to withhold military information is not in line with historical precedent or custom. It is not surprising, therefore, that newspaper editors have severely criticized such a procedure.

Secrecy is of the utmost importance, but it should be confined entirely to military matters. The press should be free to make its own comments whenever it wishes, provided it does not disclose military plans. But even the news of military operations should not be permanently suppressed.

There comes a time after the event, when it is proper for a disclosure to be made so that the American people will know what has really happened. The timing of such an announcement might well be within the discretion of the military authorities, but to hold it back indefinitely contradicts basic American practice in dealing with the press during a war.

It has been argued by some of the newspaper editors that they cannot comment effectively on military operations if they are not permitted to get the facts of what actually is happening. Thus, sometimes equipment will be unsatisfactory and certain types of guns or planes will have been used which are not suited for the operations in which they are employed. All this is something which can better be examined, perhaps, by committees of Congress, though critical articles written on the spot in war areas often point up the necessity for such investigations.

Perhaps the whole controversy would not have reached the climax that it has in recent weeks if there had not been a prelude—namely, an era of so-called "managed news" at the Pentagon. This has left an unfortunate bluish on the record. For when the only news given out is designed to accomplish a political purpose confidence on the part of the public in the accuracy of what is printed is bound to wane.

Fundamentally, there is no sound reason for suppressing the news of military operations altogether. The only issue is when such announcements should be permitted. Also, criticism of military operations should be carefully weighed by newspapermen, lest they disclose data which the enemy should not be allowed to get.

There have been sharp comments from government officials concerning the dispatches written by correspondents in Viet Nam who have been merely exercising their right to express opinions on the diplomatic aspects of the war. There has been, to be sure, a lot of news from various countries on the delicate subject of peace negotiations, and this, in some instances, the Administration would probably have preferred to see handled with more caution. But the right of the press to discuss non-military news is inherent in a system such as has long prevailed in America during war and peace.

Morhouse Testimony On Track Scheduled

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—L. Judson Morhouse, former State Republican Chairman, was scheduled to testify today at a federal court hearing on Finger Lakes Race Track concession contracts.

Morhouse, of Ticonderoga, was summoned to testify by Francis J. D'Amanda, court-appointed trustee of the bankrupt thoroughbred track near Canandaigua.

D'Amanda says the purpose of the hearing, before Judge Harold P. Burke in federal court here, is to determine whether concession contracts for the financially troubled track have been obtained competitively.

Dog Kills Girl, Dies in Cage Of Exhaustion

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A Siberian husky that had killed its owners' young daughter has died, apparently of exhaustion, after going "wild" in a cage, says a coroner.

The 60-pound animal battered itself about in a cage at an animal hospital early Saturday and then fell dead, Dr. Evan Tansley, Wayne County coroner, disclosed Sunday.

Tansley ordered the dog held for rabies tests at the animal hospital after it had attacked and killed 4-year-old Marla Perry at her family's residence in Williamson.

The dog was to be destroyed, pending the outcome of rabies tests, Tansley said. He said that after the dog died early Saturday, he ordered its head sent to Cornell University so the rabies tests could be completed.

The dog was attached by a 13-foot leash to a barn at the rear of the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Perry.

Mrs. Perry found her daughter's body behind the barn about two hours after the attack Friday, troopers said.

Tansley said Friday that the dog had "ripped the little girl to pieces."

There was no explanation of the attack.

The Practising Law Institute of New York City and the New York State Trial Lawyers Association will participate in the programs with the Bar Associations of Ulster, Orange and Dutchess counties.

Scheduled to appear at the May 8 session are Henry R. McCarthy, Syracuse; Herbert E. Cohen, of Newkirk Associates, Albany; John E. Swett, Rochester; and Eugene M. Kark, Albany Law School professor and also a practicing attorney.

Samuels said every attorney in Ulster, Dutchess and Orange Counties will receive his prospectus and application blank early this week. He added the attendance will be limited to 125 and no registrations will be accepted after this capacity has been attained.

Wants Tax Incentives To Fight Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, D-N.Y., says the federal government should provide better tax incentives to encourage industries to fight water and air pollution.

He said Sunday that he would introduce legislation to liberalize the methods for deducting the cost of pollution abatement equipment for income tax purposes.

Dog Kills Girl, Dies in Cage Of Exhaustion

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A Siberian husky that had killed its owners' young daughter has died, apparently of exhaustion, after going "wild" in a cage, says a coroner.

The 60-pound animal battered itself about in a cage at an animal hospital early Saturday and then fell dead, Dr. Evan Tansley, Wayne County coroner, disclosed Sunday.

Tansley ordered the dog held for rabies tests at the animal hospital after it had attacked and killed 4-year-old Marla Perry at her family's residence in Williamson.

The dog was to be destroyed, pending the outcome of rabies tests, Tansley said. He said that after the dog died early Saturday, he ordered its head sent to Cornell University so the rabies tests could be completed.

The dog was attached by a 13-foot leash to a barn at the rear of the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Perry.

Mrs. Perry found her daughter's body behind the barn about two hours after the attack Friday, troopers said.

Tansley said Friday that the dog had "ripped the little girl to pieces."

There was no explanation of the attack.

Legal Education Session May 8 at Marist College

The first tri-county session for continuing legal education for practicing lawyers from Ulster, Dutchess and Orange counties will be held in the Donnelly Hall Amphitheater at Marist College, North Road, Poughkeepsie, according to Paul S. Samuels, education chairman of the Dutchess Bar Association.

The session is scheduled for Saturday, May 8. In sessions from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., four attorneys specializing in the field, will cover estate planning in the $20,000-$100,000 range.

Nathaniel Rubin, Poughkeepsie attorney and president of the Dutchess County Bar Association, said Marist College authorities were contributing facilities for law practices which will be jointly sponsored by the County Bar Association and the New York State Bar Association.

The Practising Law Institute of New York City and the New York State Trial Lawyers Association will participate in the programs with the Bar Associations of Ulster, Orange and Dutchess counties.

Scheduled to appear at the May 8 session are Henry R. McCarthy, Syracuse; Herbert E. Cohen, of Newkirk Associates, Albany; John E. Sweet, Rochester; and Eugene M. Kark, Albany Law School professor and also a practicing attorney.

Samuels said every attorney in Ulster, Dutchess and Orange Counties will receive his prospectus and application blank early this week. He added the attendance will be limited to 125 and no registrations will be accepted after this capacity has been attained.

Missile Targets All Picked, Says Air Force General

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top Air Force missile general says the United States has targets picked out in Red China and could destroy key government, command and industrial centers in the event of a general war.

The officer, Maj. Gen. John P. Lavelle, indicated Peking's new nuclear facility was one of those targets.

Lavelle, a deputy chief of staff and director of aerospace programs, testified Feb. 23 on the Air Force budget at a closed hearing of a House Appropriations subcommittee. His condensed testimony was made public today.

Lavelle said in reply to questions that the United States, if attacked, would have the capability of simultaneously hitting targets in Red China, the Soviet Union and "a satellite area." He said the missiles would inflict what the Pentagon calls "unacceptably high levels of destruction."

However, he noted Red China's industry "is spread out in small factories everywhere and we would not have the same capacity with the Chinese industry."

But, Lavelle added, "our theater forces should be able to inflict an unacceptable level of destruction" on Red China.

He did not elaborate on what he meant by theater forces. Presumably he was referring to Air Force and other units in the Pacific area rather than to strategic missiles and bombers.

Rep. Robert L. F. Sikes, D-Fla., an Army Reserve major general asked Lavelle, "What would you do to their ability to field and feed troops who would be expected to pour like ants all over Southeast Asia?"

Lavelle expressed the belief "we can take out their government, their command and control capability, which in Red China is pretty highly centralized."

Sikes reminded Lavelle that even though much of Red China's industry is scattered there are certain key areas.

Stratton Favors Primary to Pick State Candidates

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP)—Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N. Y., says New York political parties should turn to an open primary system to let voters select candidates for statewide offices.

In calling for primaries to replace party nomination conventions, however, Stratton said he opposed "the half-baked or half-hearted kind of primary being urged in some quarters."

The Amsterdam Congressman spoke Saturday night at a dinner of the Geneva Democratic Committee.

His reference to "half-baked" primaries was seen as a comment on a plan under consideration by Democratic legislative leaders. The plan would permit a candidate who gained at least 20 per cent of the delegate votes at a nominating convention to challenge the convention nominee in a direct primary.

"It's perfectly obvious," he said, "that the same kind of pressures which can prevent a popular candidate who is opposed by the bosses from getting a convention nomination can also easily be employed to keep such a candidate's delegate total below 20 per cent." Stratton is listed as a possible candidate for governor in 1963.

Planning Study Of 5 Townships

A professional planning study for the towns of Rochester, Hurley, Marbletown, Rosendale and Wawarsing and the Village of Rosendale, will be made by the firm of Brown and Anthony, of Rosendale, it was reported at a recent meeting of the Rochester Town Board.

A report was submitted at the meeting from the Rochester Planning Board, which noted that at a joint meeting of the Planning boards of the five townships, it was unanimously voted to have the Rosendale firm conduct the planning study. Supervisor Franklin Kelder informed the board members and the superintendent of highways at the recent meeting, he had received a communication from the Ulster County Highway Department reporting the Mettacaubonts bridge is unsafe and has been condemned. Kelder reported County Highway Supt. Roland H. Green is endeavoring to obtain rights of way for the planned construction of a new bridge. Supt. Green also reported in another communication that County Road 76 (Samsonville Road) beginning at the Olive Town line, thence southerly to the Town of Rochester firehouse, a distance more than two miles, is closed during construction work to improve the highway.

A communication from the New York State Traffic Commission informed the town board that a regulation has been filed whereby a stop sign will be installed on the Mettacaubonts-Whitfield Road at its intersection with Route 209. This action followed requests for a study at the intersection, which apparently proved the need for a stop sign.

Councilman Morris Sims suggested that the Town Board take under advisement a proposal for taking a special census in 1966. The matter will be discussed at a later meeting.

Black Bear Breaks Through Fire Line

SILVER CITY, N.M. (AP) — It wasn't Smokey the Bear that charged a group of Indian firefighters Sunday.

The Indians were among 189 men fighting a 250-acre fire in the Gila National Forest east of Silver City when a black bear broke through the fire line after things got too hot.

A U.S. Forest Service official said it took quite some time to regroup the Indians.

Compares Dental Costs in Study On Fluoridation

CHICAGO (AP)—The cost of dental care for children in a community with fluoridated water is less than half that in a community with unfluoridated water, a study revealed today.

Costs for dental treatment of 5- and 6-year-old children in Newburgh and Kingston, N.Y., were compared for two years, Dr. David B. Ast, director of the division of special health services of the New York State Department of Health reported on the study to the 16th National Dental Health Conference.

Dr. Ast said the study showed that 41 per cent of the children in Newburgh required no dental treatment while only 15.5 per cent of the Kingston youngsters required none.

dating its water supply in 1945 while Kingston has an unfluoridated water supply.

Dr. Ast said the study showed that 41 per cent of the children in Newburgh required no dental treatment while only 15.5 per cent of the Kingston youngsters required none.

Starvation Threat Faces Thousands In South Africa

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP)—Thousands of Africans living off the land in the sprawling Ciskei region between here and East London, 200 miles to the east, are threatened with starvation. Drought has reduced their fields to parched wasteland.

Cattle have died and others are too weak to be taken any distance in search of grazing and water.

With winter rapidly approaching, a strange mental depression has set in among these country folk. Everywhere there is talk of poverty, starvation and death.

Help is needed desperately. Except for efforts by church mission stations, nothing has been done for these tribesmen.

Africans do not get all the state benefits accorded to drought-stricken white farmers. There is talk of an appeal to the state for help.

There are no irrigation schemes to bring water and no feeding schemes for humans or stock.

Methodist and Anglican churches have combined to run a school feeding scheme, but they lack funds.

Some people say it already is too late for rain to help.

Dr. P. De Vos, head of the Department of Sociology and Social Work at Fort Hare University College at Alice, described the position as "really desperate." He said the people called the drought the worst in 70 years.

Legislature Is To Act on Probe, Agency Extension

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Joseph Zaretzki says the Legislature will act this week to keep the State Investigation Commission alive.

He pledged that action Monday night after Gov. Rockefeller warned that if the four-member commission were not continued "only organized crime.. will benefit."

The law establishing the commission expires at midnight Friday.

In his statement, the governor noted that the Legislature had cut from his budget an appropriation for his special investigator, Herman T. Stichman.

Stichman resigned after the Legislature removed the money, and his resignation, Rockefeller said, made the need for the four-member commission "especially acute."

Zaretzki, however, seemed mildly irritated at the suggestion that the commission might be discontinued. He said:

"The SIC continues as is until new people are appointed... if new people are appointed... the governor isn't going to tell me who to appoint. I don't tell him who to appoint."

Under law, the commission cannot have more than two members of any one political party. Appointments are made by the governor and legislative leaders.

Similar Plates Trip Two With $37,663

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A switch in getaway cars with similar license plate numbers tripped up two men charged with a $37,663 bank robbery Monday.

A cashier at the suburban Meyerland State Bank telephoned police with the license number of the first car, MGH 213. Fifteen minutes later, patrolman John Lohmann spotted a car with the license MGH 413.

Acting on a hunch, he gave chase and stopped the car. Inside was the missing money, police said. Charged with the holdup were its passengers, Glenn Sanford Webb, 22, and Jim Dea Smith, 26.

Planning Study Of 5 Townships

A professional planning study for the towns of Rochester, Hurley, Marletown, Rosendale, and Wawarsing and the Village of Rosendale, will be made by the firm of Brown and Anthony, of Rosendale, it was reported at a recent meeting of the Rochester Town Board.

A report was submitted at the meeting from the Rochester Planning Board, which noted that at a joint meeting of the Planning boards of the five townships, it was unanimously voted to have the Rosendale firm conduct the planning study.

Supervisor Franklin Kelder informed the board members and the superintendent of highways at the recent meeting, he had received a communication from the Ulster County Highway Department reporting the Mettakahonts bridge is unsafe and has been condemned. Kelder reported County Highway Supt. Roland H. Green is endeavoring to obtain rights of way for the planned construction of a new bridge.

Supt. Green also reported in another communication that County Road 76 (Samsonville Road) beginning at the Olive Town line, thence southerly to the Town of Rochester firehouse, a distance more than two miles, is closed during construction work to improve the highway.

A communication from the New York State Traffic Commission informed the town board that a regulation has been filed whereby a stop sign will be installed on the Mettakahonts-Whitfield Road at its intersection with Route 209. This action followed requests for a study at the intersection, which apparently proved the need for a stop sign.

Councilman Morris Sims suggested that the Town Board take under advisement a proposal for taking a special census in 1966. The matter will be discussed at a later meeting.

Black Bear Breaks Through Fire Line

SILVER CITY, N.M. (AP)—It wasn't Smokey the Bear that charged a group of Indian firefighters Sunday.

The Indians were among 189 men fighting a 250-acre fire in the Gila National Forest east of Silver City when a black bear broke through the fire line after things got too hot.

A U.S. Forest Service official said it took quite some time to regroup the Indians.

Compares Dental Costs in Study On Fluoridation

CHICAGO (AP)—The cost of dental care for children in a community with fluoridated water is less than half that in a community with unfluoridated water, a study revealed today.

Dr. David B. Ast, director of the division of special health services of the New York State Department of Health reported on the study to the 16th National Dental Health Conference.

Costs for dental treatment of 5- and 6-year-old children in Newburgh and Kingston, N.Y., were compared for two years, he said. Newburgh began fluoridating its water supply in 1945 while Kingston has an unfluoridated water supply.

Dr. Ast said the study showed that 41 per cent of the children in Newburgh required no dental treatment while only 15.5 per cent of the Kingston youngsters required none.

Starvation Threat Faces Thousands In South Africa

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP)—Thousands of Africans living off the land in the sprawling Ciskei region between here and East London, 200 miles to the east, are threatened with starvation. Drought has reduced their fields to parched wasteland.

Cattle have died and others are too weak to be taken any distance in search of grazing and water.

With winter rapidly approaching, a strange mental depression has set in among these country folk. Everywhere there is talk of poverty, starvation and death.

Help is needed desperately. Except for efforts by church mission stations, nothing has been done for these tribesmen.

Africans do not get all the state benefits accorded to drought-stricken white farmers. There is talk of an appeal to the state for help.

There are no irrigation schemes to bring water and no feeding schemes for humans or stock.

Methodist and Anglican churches have combined to run a school feeding scheme, but they lack funds.

Some people say it already is too late for rain to help.

Dr. P. De Vos, head of the Department of Sociology and Social Work at Fort Hare University College at Alice, described the position as "really desperate." He said the people called the drought the worst in 70 years.

Legislature Is To Act on Probe, Agency Extension

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Joseph Zaretzki says the Legislature will act this week to keep the State Investigation Commission alive.

He pledged that action Monday night after Gov. Rockefeller warned that if the four-member commission were not continued "only organized crime will benefit."

The law establishing the commission expires at midnight Friday.

In his statement, the governor noted that the Legislature had cut from his budget an appropriation for his special investigator, Herman T. Stichman.

Suchman resigned after the Legislature removed the money, and his resignation, Rockefeller said, made the need for the four-member commission "especially acute."

Zaretzki, however, seemed mildly irritated at the suggestion that the commission might be discontinued. He said:

"The SIC continues as is until new people are appointed... if new people are appointed... the governor isn't going to tell him who to appoint. I don't tell him who to appoint."

$500 Million a Year Swindled by Bogus Improvement Agents

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Spring is the time when most home-owners improve their property. It's also the time when swindlers step up their efforts.

More than $13 billion will be spent this year on home improvements.

And the National Better Business Bureau estimates that home improvement confidence men cheat the public out of $50 million a year.

The bureau says that the overwhelming majority of contractors and dealers serve the public with honest values. It's the chiseling few on the fringe of the industry who try to exploit the inexperienced and the gullible.

You can recognize some fly-by-night gyps by their approach. The faker knocking at your door may be a roofer or a driveway paver but the pitch is the same: 'I just finished a job nearby, have materials left over and can do work for you at a big saving.' But is it a saving, and where will you find him if trouble develops?

Pressure to sign contracts quickly is a common tactic of other gyps. They dazzle prospects with routines such as:

"Display home." A swindler specializing in siding proposes a "below cost" installation for "demonstration" purposes and promises commissions on sales to others. But he never returns and all that's demonstrated is a case of overpayment.

"Bait-and-switch." A trickster dealing in carpentry advertises an extremely low price, then adroitly knocks the "bargain" and plays up a so-called better model. By the time the buyer finds he has overpaid for an inferior job the gyp has moved on.

There is no shortage of potential victims.

How to avoid the gyps and end up with the enduring kind of improvements that provides lasting benefits?

Know the reputation of your contractor or dealer, says the Better Business Bureau. If in doubt, you can check the firm's standing with the bureau, the Chamber of Commerce or your own bank.

Having carefully made the right choice from the right dealer, the buyer then may go wrong by turning to a financing outfit that will trap him with costly hidden charges.

Money for home improvements is available from many sources at fair rates. About 80 per cent of all such financing is extended by banks, according to the American Banking Association.

Wood Finish

When finishing prestige woods like ponderosa pine, western hemlock and western red cedar, always let each coat of varnish dry thoroughly, then buff lightly with very fine steel wool and dust before applying the next coat.

Indian Units Are Badly Shaken. Claim Victories

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India claimed today its troops destroyed at least six tanks and inflicted "very heavy casualties" on Pakistani army units attacking across the frontier into the Indian State of Jammu and Kashmir.

A Defense Ministry spokesman said fighting which began Monday morning around Baramulla, has stopped.

Despite the claims, it appeared that units also had been severely mauled in three days of fighting which began Saturday.

Vertical Takeoff

for vertical takeoff and landing. The jet aircraft that crashed took off vertically, using fans in its wings and nose for lifting power.

Some observers thought they saw something fall from the plane just before it crashed, but officials could not immediately confirm this.

Bomb Insurgents

Loyalist planes flew over Santo Domingo, but did not resume the bombing and strafing attacks on Monday. The air raids and scattered clashes were reported to have killed at least 25 and wounded about 80.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the Navy landing ship Raleigh would pick up some 250 tourists and about the same number of embassy personnel and dependents who had asked to leave. He emphasized that the evacuation was voluntary, that the Americans had not been ordered to leave.

The decision to set up the voluntary evacuation came after army rebels, seeking the return of ex-President Juan Bosch, armed thousands of civilians in Santo Domingo.

The U.S. Navy late Monday stationed a task force including the carrier Boxer and 1,500 Marines off the Dominican coast. The State Department said the warships were in the vicinity to evacuate Americans if it became necessary. About 2,500 Americans are scattered throughout the country.

109 Corpsmen Safe

Peace Corps headquarters in Washington said 109 corpsmen in the Dominican Republic were safe and their withdrawal was not anticipated.

Santo Domingo's airport and port have been closed since Sunday.

By Monday night 12 bodies had been counted, but some unofficial estimates put the death toll as high as 50 with another 100 injured.

An unknown number of persons were killed when a tank attacked and destroyed a police station.

Army troops passed out rifles and machine guns to an estimated 3,000 pro-Bosch civilians. More than 10,000 gasoline-bottle bombs fueled free by gas stations were reported in the hands of civilians.

Sheriff Candidates At Young GOP Club

Five of the seven announced candidates for the Republican nomination for sheriff appeared Monday night at the monthly meeting of the Kingston District Young Republican Club.

Those appearing were Clark Cline of Town of Esopus, County of Ulster; Constable Joseph Ferraro of Town of Esopus, Justice of the Peace Robert Ferraro of Town of Kingston; and William Krum, New York State Thruway employee and a former member of the Kingston Police Department and the FBI. Each candidate candidly expressed his views and told the club members of his background.

Each candidate also expressed his support for the party and pledged his endorsement of the winner of this hotly contested race.

President William J. Matthews, Jr., of the Kingston District Club observed that such a public forum as the one held Monday night would enable the candidates to clarify their views before the voters as well as before the public interest to the importance of the position of sheriff.

State to Drop Schine Direction Of Spa Facility

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A spokesman for the State Conservation Department said today the Schine Hotel chain would be dropped as manager of the State's Gideon Putnam Hotel at Saratoga Springs because of a "default" in payment of approximately $126,000.

Charles J. LaBelle, department counsel, said the present contract expired March 31 and a new one with some other operator would be negotiated by May 15, the date the Schine interests are to relinquish their license.

LaBelle said the default included approximately $103,000 due in rental and percentage payments and an electric bill of $23,000.

LaBelle said a change was necessary to assure continuity of operation of the hotel and to protect its employees.

12 Republicans Would Send Humphrey on Tour

WASHINGTON (AP)—Twelve House Republicans have asked that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey be sent on a goodwill tour to India and Pakistan. They said this would demonstrate that no slight was intended when U.S. visits of the Indian and Pakistani heads of state were postponed by President Johnson.

The 12 Republicans who made the suggestions are Mark Andrews of North Dakota; William Brown of Michigan; Robert F. Ellsworth of Michigan; Peter H. B. Freligh of New Jersey; Frank Horton, John V. Lindsay and Ogden R. Reid, all of New York; Charles McC. Mathias of Maryland; Joseph M. McDade of Pennsylvania; F. Bradford Morse of Massachusetts; Charles A. Mosher of Ohio; and Stanley R. Tupper of Maine.

Diner Is Damaged Heavily Today by Fire in Morning

A fire which started in a kitchen area damaged the Surprise Diner, 558 Albany Avenue, early today.

A back area of the metal structure was involved in the blaze when firemen arrived. A telephone call at 3:46 a. m. was followed by an alarm from Box 5623, Albany and Harding Avenue.

A section of floor, ceiling and other areas were damaged. State Troopers William Kupka and Craig Bremner discovered the blaze.

Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, the Wicks, Excelsior and Wiltwyck volunteers responded to the alarms.

Edward Constenou, of Savoy Street, operates the diner.

A call at 4:53 Monday was for a fire in a truck owned by Mrs. Joseph Rich, of Sunset Park. It started from a short circuit in wiring and damaged insulation and wiring. The blaze was out on arrival of firemen. It might fire at Flatbush Avenue and East Chester Street.

Suspended Sessions

TOKYO (AP) — The Tokyo District Court handed down suspended sentences today ranging from 8 to 18 months for 22 left-wingers who organized the demonstration that resulted in cancellation of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's 1960 visit to Japan.

2 Sentenced . . .

Moran was also thanked by the court for his services.

$1,000 Taken From Men

It was alleged that McKendall and Moran stuck up a card game in a rear room at the Ellenville Taxi Office and took some $1,000 to $1,200. Before leaving the men were compelled to doff their trousers which were taken by the robbers. They were later recovered in a truck which was described at the trial as the "get-away" truck. Most of the money was also recovered.

Assistant District Attorneys Francis Vogt and Albert I. Lonschein appeared for prosecution.

Dominic J. Sharlette, 19, New Paltz, entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry to a building at New Paltz on October 26, 1964. He had been indicted for third degree burglary, grand larceny and unlawful entry.

John Kazolis appeared for defendant and imposition of sentence was postponed until June 3 at 2 p. m. in order to secure a pre-sentence probation report.

160 Days in Jail

Harold Dave Levenson, New York, charged with second degree grand larceny arising out of a check deal, appeared for sentence. He had pleaded to issuance of a fraudulent check as a misdemeanor. William Dwyer appeared for Levenson. Levenson was sentenced to 160 days in jail, a period which he had already served. There is a detainee filed with the Ulster County sheriff from Nassau County and Levenson will be returned there to answer to that charge.

Donald Casterlin, Ellenville, pleaded to malicious injury to property as a felony. He had been indicted for second degree arson, arising out of a fire at the Park Hotel in Ellenville on December 1, 1964. Sentence was postponed until June 3 at 10 a. m. Charles Kaiser appeared for defendant.

Shooting Case

James Murray attorney for William Arthur Harrison, charged with first and second degree assault and illegal possession of a firearm, was notified to stand by and be ready for selection of a jury. Harrison is charged with the shooting of one Roy Kunzie, Milton, last September 28, with a pistol. The complaining witness is in St. Louis, Mo. District Attorney Torraca asked time to bring the complainant back to New York.

Larry Arthur Fuller, charged with third degree burglary, petit larceny and unlawful entry to a building in Town of Wawarsing on December 11, last, entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry. Arthur Weisoff appeared for defendant. Sentence will be pronounced June 3 at 2 p. m.

Several other cases were called by District Attorney Torraca and set down for future dates.

Mental Health Law Seminar Scheduled

A seminar for officials of local mental health agencies on New York State's new legislation governing the hospitalization of the mentally ill will be held in White Plains on Thursday. Conducted by the Department of Mental Hygiene, the meeting will be held at the Westchester Division of the New York Hospital, 21 Bloomingdale Road, White Plains.

Enacted by the 1964 Legislature, the new law goes into effect on September 1, 1965. Eliminating court certification and the stigma it costs on both mental patients and mental hospitals, the legislation places hospitalization completely on a medical basis and at the same time provides ample protection of civil liberties.

The principal speaker will be Dr. Leonard C. Lang, associate commissioner of the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene, who will discuss the major provisions of the law. E. David Wiley, counsel for the Department of Mental Hygiene, who had a key role in drafting the legislation, will participate in the morning session, which begins at 10 a. m.

A workshop on procedures for administering the law will be held in the afternoon.

New Paltz Men Resisted Officer, Sentence June 3

Trial of three New Paltz men charged with second degree assault, attempting to prevent an officer from performing his duty and resisting an officer, came to a sudden end today when all three pleaded guilty to the charge of resisting an officer. They will be sentenced at 10 a. m. on June 3.

A jury had been selected and the trial started when James Leslie Ackert, Wayne Donald Ackert and John Eugene Martin Sr., entered a plea of guilty to the last count of the indictment, resisting an officer.

It was alleged that on May 11, 1964, the three men committed the act at the Homestead in New Paltz when State Trooper Gerald W. Zappalo, who was not in uniform, attempted to stop an altercation.

Charles Saccoman appeared for the three men.

Dutchess Water District Plans May Go to Voters

It appeared today that a resolution calling for the proposed $27 million Dutchess County Water District might go before the voters in the eight townships involved before the district is realized.

Mrs. Irving L. Duncan of Pleasant Valley, leader in a drive to obtain the necessary 100 signatures from residents in any of the townships calling for a public referendum on the proposed district, told The Freeman that she was confident that the necessary number of signatures would be obtained.

Mrs. Duncan's action came on the heels of a unanimous 31-0 vote by the Dutchess County Board of Supervisors Monday giving approval of the proposed water district. The action came during a special meeting of the board immediately after a public hearing on the issue.

Cost of the proposed district and public choice appeared to be major factors following the vote. Mrs. Duncan said that a similar petition was circulated last summer when the water district proposal was approved by the supervisors, but the resolution was rescinded. Also, it was reported that residents in the proposed district requested the County Water Agency to explain in detail why the estimated cost of the proposed district was increased $2 million over a previous estimate of $25 million.

Indian Units Are Badly Shaken, Claim Victories

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India claimed today its troops destroyed at least six tanks and inflicted "very heavy casualties" on Pakistan army units attacking across the frontier into the Indian State of Jammu.

A Defense Ministry spokesman said fighting which began Monday morning around Baramulla, had continued through the night.

Despite the claims, it appeared Indian units also had been severely mauled in three days of fighting which began Saturday.

Vertical Takeoff

for vertical takeoff and landing. The jet craft that crashed took off vertically, using fans in its wings and nose for lifting power.

Some observers thought they saw something fall from the plane just before it crashed, but officials could not immediately confirm this.

Bomb Insurgents

Loyalist planes flew over Santo Domingo, but did not resume the bombing and strafing attacks on Monday. The air raids and scattered clashes were reported to have killed at least 25 and wounded about 80.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the Navy landing ship Raleigh would pick up some 250 tourists and about the same number of embassy personnel and dependents who had asked to leave. He emphasized that the evacuation was voluntary, that the Americans had not been ordered to leave.

The decision to set up the voluntary evacuation came after army rebels, seeking the return of ex-President Juan Bosch, armed thousands of civilians in Santo Domingo.

The U.S. Navy last Monday stationed a task force including the carrier Boxer and 1,500 Marines off the Dominican coast. The State Department said the warships were in the vicinity to evacuate Americans if it became necessary. About 2,300 Americans are scattered throughout the country.

109 Corpsmen Safe

Peace Corps headquarters in Washington said 109 corpsmen in the Dominican Republic were safe and their withdrawal was not anticipated.

Santo Domingo's airport and port have been closed since Sunday.

By Monday night 12 bodies had been counted, but some unofficial estimates put the death toll as high as 50 with another 100 injured.

An unknown number of persons were killed when a tank attacked and destroyed a police station.

Army troops passed out rifles and machine guns to an estimated 3,000 pro-Bosch civilians. More than 10,000 gasoline-bottle bombs fueled free by gas stations were reported in the hands of civilians.

Sheriff Candidates At Young GOP Club

Five of the seven announced candidates for the Republican nomination for sheriff appeared Monday night at the monthly meeting of the Kingston District Young Republican Club.

Those appearing were Clark Cline of Town of Esopus, County Identification Officer Earl Conroy of Chichester, Constable Joseph Ferraro of Town of Esopus, Justice of the Peace Robert Ferrigan of Town of Kingston and William Krum, New York State Thruway employee and a former member of the Kingston Police Department and the FBI. Each candidate candidly expressed his views and told the club members of his background.

Each candidate also expressed his support for the party and pledged his endorsement of the winner of this hotly contested race.

President William J. Matthews, Jr., of the Kingston District Club observed that such a public forum as the one held Monday night would enable the candidates to clarify their views before the voters as well as alert the public interest to the importance of the position of sheriff.

State to Drop Schine Direction Of Spa Facility

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A spokesman for the State Conservation Department said today the Schine Hotel chain would be dropped as manager of the State's Gideon Putnam Hotel at Saratoga Springs because of a "default" in payment of approximately $126,000.

Charles J. LaBelle, department counsel, said the present contract expired March 31 and a new one with some other operator would be negotiated by May 15, the date the Schine interests are to relinquish their license.

LaBelle said the default included approximately $103,000 due in rental and percentage payments and an electric bill of $23,000.

LaBelle said a change was necessary to assure continuity of operation of the hotel and to protect its employees.

12 Republicans Would Send Humphrey on Tour

WASHINGTON (AP)—Twelve House Republicans have asked that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey be sent on a good-will trip to India and Pakistan.

They said this would demonstrate that no slight was intended when U.S. visits of the Indian and Pakistani heads of state were postponed by President Johnson.

The 12 Republicans who made the suggestions are Mark Andrews of North Dakota; William Broomfield of Michigan; Robert F. Ellsworth of Kansas; Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey; Frank Horton, John V. Lindsay and Ozden R. Reid, all of New York; Charles McC. Mathias of Maryland; Joseph M. McDade of Pennsylvania; F. Most of the money was also recovered.

Assistant District Attorneys Francis Vogt and Albert I. Lonsstein appeared for prosecution.

William Dwyer appeared for Levenson. Levenson was sentenced to 160 days in jail, a period which he had already served. There is a detainee with the Ulster County sheriff from Nassau County and Levenson will be returned there to answer to that charge.

Mental Health Law Seminar Scheduled

A seminar for officials of local mental health agencies on New York State's new legislation governing the hospitalization of the mentally ill will be held in White Plains on Thursday. Conducted by the Department of Mental Hygiene, the meeting will be held at the Westchester Division of the New York Hospital, 21 Bloomingdale Road, White Plains.

Enacted by the 1964 Legislature, the new law goes into effect on September 1, 1965. Eliminating court certification and the stigma it costs on both mental patients and mental hospitals, the legislation places hospitalization completely on a medical basis and at the same time provides ample protection of civil liberties.

The principal speaker will be Dr. Leonard C. Lang, associate commissioner of the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene, who will discuss the major provisions of the law. E. David Wiley, counsel for the Department of Mental Hygiene, who had a key role in drafting the legislation, will participate in the morning session, which begins at 10 a. m.

A workshop on procedures for administering the law will be held in the afternoon.

Has Blank Check From Congress

LBJ Viet Nam Policy Gets Criticism Here and Abroad

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson likes to think he is expressing an American consensus when he does something. But he is running into some divided opinion on his policy in Viet Nam.

He is sensitive to criticism but he is being criticized on what is happening in Southeast Asia. Among the critics: some students, some professors, some segments of the press, some members of Congress, particularly in his own Democratic party.

But he is getting it from the Communists, too. Red China's premier, Chou En-lai, branded Johnson's call for "unconditional discussions" on Viet Nam a "plot." The Soviet Union says the United States is threatening Southeast Asia with "nuclear blackmail."

Suggests Halt
Recently Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, suggested a temporary halt in the U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam in an effort to encourage the Reds to negotiate.

After that members of Fulbright's committee staff said they got hundreds of letters and that 90 per cent of them supported his proposal.

But former President Dwight D. Eisenhower fully supports Johnson, and so does former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Johnson has had vigorous support from the Senate's Republican leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

This is a switch from what happened to President Harry S. Truman in the early days of the Korean War when it was going badly. Republicans were on his back. But in all this one point may get overlooked.

Has Blank Check
Johnson got a blank check from Congress last Aug. 7 to do what he is doing. At that time both houses approved a resolution giving the President approval in advance for any action he might take in the Southeast Asia crisis.

The House voted 416 to 0 for this, the Senate 88 to 2. The two dissenters were Democrats, Sens. Wayne Morse of Oregon and Ernest Gruening of Alaska. They are now two of his most persistent critics, particularly Morse.

Monday, Morse denounced American policy in Viet Nam, calling it "immoral and godless." He said Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara should have been removed long ago.

Gruening complains Johnson is being advised by warhawks and called the situation "hopeless."

Explanations On Tap
The Johnson administration, stinging under all this, is reacting. Monday, McNamara held a news conference to explain what is happening. Last week Rusk, in a speech, charged critics of the U.S. policy with talking "nonsense."

Johnson was to hold a news conference today. The State Department says it is stepping up speech-making appearances by foreign policy officers to discuss Viet Nam in response to mounting requests from around the country.

Basic Positions
In all this some of the basic positions on both sides get lost. The Johnson position, put out by the State Department, goes like this:

The problem is Communist aggression and the South Vietnamese asked American help; the United States will pull out when the Reds decide to leave their neighbors alone; to pull out before then would be throwing 14 million South Vietnamese to the mercy of communism; Communist aggression is worldwide and if the Reds are allowed to succeed in Southeast Asia, they'll move again soon somewhere else.

This statement, by accusing the Communists of aggression, repudiates the critics' argument that the war in Viet Nam is just a civil war. And it takes the position that the United States must try to stop Communist expansion.

Some of the criticism is emotional, some is based on moral revulsion to the American bombing. One of the most distinguished critics is Hans J. Morgenthau, director of the Center for the Study of American Foreign and Military Policy at the University of Chicago.

He takes the position that by containing communism in Asia this country is only assuming it is containing the communism of China. He argues the North Vietnamese Reds will become Red China's satellite only if this country forces them to.

But this is a mighty big assumption all by itself, since Morgenthau isn't in a position to say that, if the United States pulled out, Red China wouldn't sooner or later engulf all of Viet Nam and all of Southeast Asia.

10 PC Tax Cut Due for Workers In Canada July 1

OTTAWA (AP) — Canadian wage earners will get a 10 per cent cut in their income tax starting July 1, Prime Minister Lester Pearson's liberal government has announced.

The cut will affect all persons earning $20,000 a year or less. Those who earn more will get a flat cut of $600 a year.

The tax reduction was announced Monday night in Finance Minister Walter Gordon's 1965 budget. Gordon forecast a budgetary deficit of $300 million but also predicted a 7 per cent increase in Canada's gross national product in 1965 to $50 billion.

Last year Canada had a deficit of $83 million, a fifth of the predicted deficit because of a spectacular rise in the gross national product.

Gordon also announced the government will keep its elec-

Javits Favors Whitehall As Navy's Birthplace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., proposed today that Congress recognize Whitehall, N.Y., as the birthplace of the U.S. Navy.

A resolution he drafted for introduction would do this if passed by the House and Senate and signed by President Johnson. A similar resolution has been introduced in the House by Rep. Carleton J. King, R-N.Y.

Javits said 12 of the 15 ships used by American forces in the Battle of Lake Champlain during the Revolutionary War were built at what is now Whitehall in Washington County.

Canadian promise to create a huge Canadian development corporation with a capitalization of $1 billion. In effect, it will be a government-inspired mutual fund allowing Canadians to invest in their country's industry by buying shares at $5 each.

10 PC Tax Cut Due for Workers In Canada July 1

OTTAWA (AP) — Canadian wage earners will get a 10 per cent cut in their income tax starting July 1, Prime Minister Lester Pearson's liberal government has announced.

The cut will affect all persons earning $20,000 a year or less. Those who earn more will get a flat cut of $600 a year.

The tax reduction was announced Monday night in Finance Minister Walter Gordon's 1965 budget. Gordon forecast a budgetary deficit of $300 million but also predicted a 7 per cent increase in Canada's gross national product in 1965 to $50 billion.

Last year Canada had a deficit of $83 million, a fifth of the predicted deficit because of a spectacular rise in the gross national product.

Gordon also announced the government will keep its elec-

Javits Favors Whitehall As Navy's Birthplace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., proposed today that Congress recognize Whitehall, N.Y., as the birthplace of the U.S. Navy.

A resolution he drafted for introduction would do this if passed by the House and Senate and signed by President Johnson. A similar resolution has been introduced in the House by Rep. Carleton J. King, R-N.Y.

Javits said 12 of the 15 ships used by American forces in the Battle of Lake Champlain during the Revolutionary War were built at what is now Whitehall in Washington County.

promise to create a huge Canadian development corporation with a capitalization of $1 billion. In effect, it will be a government-inspired mutual fund allowing Canadians to invest in their country's industry by buying shares at $5 each.

P-TA Meeting Called

Mrs. Ruth Clair, first grade teacher at the West Hurley School will show slides of her trip to South America at the April 27th meeting of the West Hurley P-TA. At 8 p. m., a short business meeting conducted by Mrs. Jody Collins, president, will precede the program.

Mrs. Clair, well known in this area for her informative and comprehensive reports on the many foreign countries she has visited this year, took a trip with a freighter on its copper run to Chile. The boat was also in port in cities of Panama, Ecuador, Peru, Chile and Colombia. While in Panama, Mrs. Clair attended a reception for the president-elect of Panama. Mrs. Clair will have many color slides to illustrate her lecture.

There will be a special program for the pre-school P-TA group. After the business meeting, they will adjourn to the kindergarten room in school I to have a typical day in the kindergarten explained to them by Mrs. Joan Casika and Mrs. Betty Horvath, kindergarten teachers.

The West Hurley P-TA conducted an egg hunt for the children of the West Hurley School on Wednesday, April 14.

Builds Plane, But He Isn't a Flier

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — After two and a half years, Andrew T. Johnson finished building an airplane in the basement garage of his San Francisco residence.

"I bought a set of plans. Then I just started out and built her," Johnson told neighbors as he pushed the bright red craft into his driveway. The entire plane, except for the 125-horsepower engine, is homemade, he said. It has a 27-foot wingspan and is 19 feet long.

Now he has to figure out what to do with it. Johnson does not know how to fly.

Legislature . . .

ler's veto of a Democratic program bill to raise the state minimum wage from $1.25 to $1.50 an hour.

The Senate leader said the Democratic majorities would stand by to give labor leaders an opportunity to rally enough support for the measure.

Democrats comprise 32 of the 57 senators and 88 of the 150 assemblymen — short of the two-thirds margins needed to override a veto.

Rockefeller vetoed the bill on the ground it would drive industry from the state and eliminate the jobs of the workers the measure was designed to help.

A further area of disagreement was the continuation of the State Investigation Commission.

Rockefeller has asked the Legislature to extend the commission's life for two years beyond its scheduled expiration date of April 30.

Here are additional details:

Zaretzki said the Democratic leadership was aiming for final adjournment of the 1965 legislative session, already one of the longest on record, by the end of May.

Still pending are decisions on such issues as a tougher code of ethics for legislators, election reforms, off-track betting on horse races as a new source of state revenue, abolition of capital punishment and raising the minimum drinking age from 18 to 21 years.

Reapportionment remains one of the most difficult, complex problems.

A U.S. District Court ordered the Legislature to submit by May 5 a law embodying a redistricting plan conforming with the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling that seats in both houses be allocated on the basis of population.

Democratic leaders announced originally they would meet the May 5 deadline but now say they will be unable to do so.

Ten months have elapsed since the district court ordered the new plan drafted. It is possible the three-member federal tribunal will tire of the prolonged political and legal squabbling over reapportionment and take matters into its own hands.

Another Voting

day. The Negroes rejected the offer.

Marrisset said the movement was being pushed by younger Negroes with "only a few adults participating."

An estimated 400 persons jammed the church for a rally Monday night. They were told to be ready to march this morning.

Other Developments

There were these other developments on the racial scene:

—At Selma, Ala., testimony resumes today in a federal contempt proceeding against Dallas County Sheriff James G. Clark who is under a court order not to interfere with Negroes attempting to register to vote.

—At Parkersburg, Pa., a crowd of Negro youths — as many as 100 at one time, state police said — roamed the streets, hurling rocks and other objects. They broke store and car windows before local and state police brought the disturbance under control Monday night. There were no injuries as a result of the outbreak, touched off when a Negro youth was shot fatally by a white boy during an argument.

—At Cleveland, Ohio, 24 pickets were arrested during a sit-in at the city's new federal office building site. The demonstrators charged discrimination against Negroes in hiring skilled workers for the $32-million federal building under construction.

—At Hayneville, Ala., an attorney for the Ku Klux Klan, Matt H. Murphy of Birmingham, issued a subpoena for President Johnson to testify in the trial of a white klansman charged with the murder of Viola Liuzzo of Detroit. The white civil rights worker was shot to death near Lowndesboro after a civil rights march. The President is not subject to subpoena.

At Hayneville, it was announced that klansman Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, of Fairfield, will be tried Monday in the slaying of Mrs. Liuzzo. No trial date has been set for the other two klansmen, William Orville Eaton, 41, and Eugene Thomas, 42, both of Bessemer. All have pleaded innocent.

HEAR SPEAKER FROM FBI—Stressing that people are turning from spiritual values to material things, and that crime is increasing five times faster than the population, Sunday's speaker at the annual corporate communion of St. Joseph's Holy Name Society lauded the 235 men who attended the event as a demonstration of Faith. John F. Malone, assistant director to J. Edgar Hoover and agent-in-charge of the New York Office, Federal Bureau of Investigation, spoke on Functions of Your FBI. Pointing out that the organization is an investigative force, he urged that citizens cooperate with their local police agencies, "your bulwark of protection against crime." Seated at the head table in the parochial school hall were (l-r) Kingston Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, chairman of the breakfast; FBI Director Malone, guest speaker and a personal friend of the local chief; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. O'Reilly, dean of Ulster County and St. Joseph's pastor; Attorney George A. Beck, toastmaster, and Mayor John J. Schwenk; standing, Police Commissioner Joseph F. Polcano, president of the Holy Name; John Bentley, secretary; John C. Porsch, treasurer; Francis T. Argulewicz, a member of the committee and Stanley Wojdan, marshal. (Freeman photo)

land, Big Island, was inundated when a canal and the Rock River backed up and flooded 50 to 400 homes. Five hundred persons were taken out by boat. Another 500 who moved to upper floors were expected to leave today.

"It looks like the entire island is going to go," a Red Cross spokesman said.

The river punched through a dike on Henderson Creek in Illinois about five miles north of Burlington and poured into the community of Gulfport. The 400 residents evacuated Gulfport Saturday night.

More than 1,500 persons have evacuated Fulton, Ill., a town of 3,800 across the river from Clinton, Iowa. Fulton has been accessible only by boat since Friday.

A small levee buckled late Monday on the northwest side of Rock Island, putting an industrial area under water.

New Problem

A new problem plagued Rock Island officials: storm drains have begun backing up in the city of 51,000 population.

Another section of Rock Island, Big Island, was inundated when a canal and the Rock River backed up and flooded 50 to 400 homes. Five hundred persons were taken out by boat. Another 500 who moved to upper floors were expected to leave today.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels were pacemakers in a rallying stock market early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

Extension of the steel strike deadline was the tonic which cheered Wall Street and especially those interested in buying steel stocks.

The steels ran up gains of a point or more on a broad front. Other groups such as autos, rubbers, rails, coppers, airlines, chemicals, electronics and electrical equipments followed.

Oils were irregular. Cigarettes declined on news that R.J. Reynolds Tobacco, the nation's largest manufacturer of cigarettes, does not plan to follow the lead of four major cigarette makers by boosting prices.

All the popular averages moved well into new high ground.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.5 to 340.3 with industrials up 2.5, rails up .3 and utilities up .9.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.05 at 920.91 trimming a gain of 5.05 at 11 a.m. EDT.

Income, Growth Are Usually Incompatible

Q "I am 67 years of age and have just become a widow. My estate consists of 200 American Telephone, $30,000 in mutual funds and $20,000 in the bank. There will soon be $15,000 to income and I am interested in slight growth but good income. What do you advise?" —E.P.

A I offer you my sincerest sympathy on the loss of your husband. It is a rule of the marketplace that a stock's yield is usually in inverse proportion to its growth. I will suggest some good income stocks but I must tell you that they are not considered to be in the growth category. I like Maytag, which has shown a long upward earnings pattern in the competitive appliance market. The shares sell to yield 4.8 per cent. Libby-Owens-Ford Glass — besides its industrial business — supplies requirements of General Motors' requirements and offers a 4.9 per cent return (excluding last year's extra). And finally, I suggest Atchison Rwy., selling on a 4.7 per cent basis, quite well secured.

Q "I own E bonds dated 1942. I would like to convert these to H bonds. Can you tell me where the bonds must be sent for exchange. Must I endorse each bond? What is the best time to make the exchange?" —H.G.

A Your bonds must be sent for exchange to a Federal Reserve Bank, but frequently your local bank will act as your agent. Before exchange can be made, you must fill out a special form which your bank may have. If not, request the form by writing to the Treasury Department, Savings Bond Division, Washington, D. C. The form must be signed and should carry your Social Security number, if any; and each bond must be endorsed as well. Make the exchange only at or near the date when your six months' interest accrues, since there is no interim interest paid if your bonds are exchanged.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Uptown Urban

uptown project, the city will obtain, in addition to overall renewal of the area, almost $2 million in physical improvements, including streets, sanitary services, storm drains, water lines, street trees, fire alarm and traffic control systems, a new park and parking facilities.

Eric Hemphill, the agency's executive director, noted that the Lions Club show exhibits are "another step in continuing public information efforts, which the agency deems so essential to its work." Within the next several months, he said, agency members and consultants will attend meetings to explain project plans and related details.

To Give Out Plans

To be distributed also at the Lions Club show is a 12-page brochure describing the project. Among improvements to result from the project will be the extension and realignment of Clinton Avenue, the widening of Washington and Hurley avenues, Converse and Green streets, and part of North Front Street.

It will bring 1,100 new off-street parking spaces, a pedestrian shopping mall along parts of North Front and Wall streets, and rehabilitation of structures fronting on the streets. It will preserve historical structures, and provide new offices, general commercial sites, and apartments to help strengthen the local tax base. The area will have new street paving and sidewalks, trees, street lights and park facilities.

To Clear Flood Threat

It is planned also to remove the flood threat in a project area bounded by the Esopus Creek.

A major emphasis is placed on rehabilitation of existing structures.

Nat Parish, partner in charge of this project for Raymond & May Associates, the agency said, has described the plan "as perhaps the most satisfying renewal project" undertaken by their urban design team. The opportunity is rare, he said, "to blend historic preservation with business district improvements, and judicious clearance with conservation of sound older structures."

Parish added: "We believe we have achieved an effective accommodation between the motor car and the pedestrian. Each will be able to move about without interfering with the other. The plan provides for two fundamental necessities: exciting urban spaces for pedestrians and good access and easy parking for the automobile."

Reaction Mixed

der Puff Derby, said: "I hate to be a traitor to my sex, but I do think men can go it alone in this field for a while. The time will come when women can contribute, but space flights should be left up to the men for the time being."

Mary Aikins, of Wichita, Mrs. Noah's cockpit in the 1964 derby, said: "We couldn't gain any extra points by putting a woman into space just for the sake of doing it. Russia has beat us to the punch on this. This country feels protective toward women and leaves it to the men to do the pioneering."

Wishes for Youth

Katherine Peden, Kentucky commissioner of commerce, said she wished she were young enough to apply.

"I feel the hazards of being the first woman astronaut are not greater than being the first commerce commissioner in Kentucky," said Miss Peden.

Judith Thompson, a Chicago housewife, and Eleanor Lally, a Los Angeles property manager, said they couldn't care less.

"Why should some darn fool woman want to shoot herself at the moon?" asked Mrs. Thompson.

Mrs. Larry Stames, wife of a Houston architect, said, "They can leave it to the men. I won't even go up in an airplane."

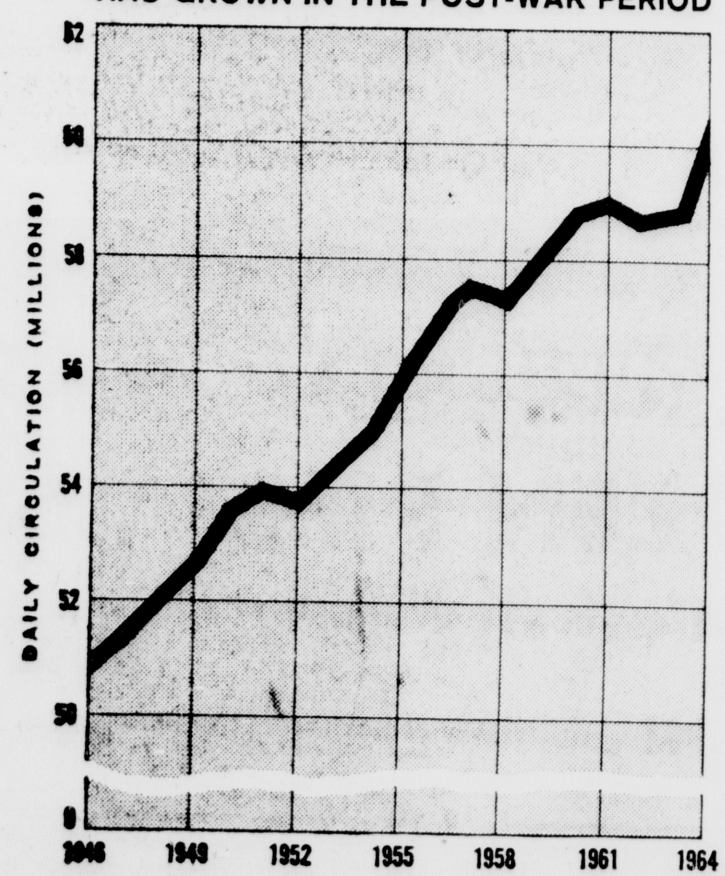

Janet Mann, a retired bartender from Quincy, Mass., says she'd like to go to the moon some day, but: "Not until I can do it for $12.50. It ought to be safe then. I like things well tried."

60,000,000 TIMES A DAY

The American people buy this many daily newspapers every day. Newspaper circulation has been climbing steadily ever since the appearance of America's first daily more than 180 years ago...and it's still growing.

HOW DAILY NEWSPAPER CIRCULATION HAS GROWN IN THE POST-WAR PERIOD

has been climbing steadily ever since the appearance of America's first daily more than 180 years ago...and it's still growing.

Last year daily newspaper circulation reached a record 60,412,266—an increase of more than 1,500,000 over 1963—the greatest single increase in almost 20 years!

More people are buying newspapers today because newspapers have more to offer. Statistically, they carry more news in greater depth as well as more advertising than ever before.

There is hardly an American home that doesn't receive at least one daily newspaper regularly. People depend on their newspapers. Could you get along without yours?

Legislature . . .

ler's veto of a Democratic program bill to raise the state minimum wage from $1.25 to $1.50 an hour.

The Senate leader said the Democratic majorities would stand by to give labor leaders an opportunity to rally enough support for the measure.

Democrats comprise 32 of the 57 senators and 88 of the 150 assemblymen — short of the two-thirds margins needed to override a veto.

Rockefeller vetoed the bill on the ground it would drive industry from the state and eliminate the jobs of the workers the measure was designed to help.

A further area of disagreement was the continuation of the State Investigation Commission.

Rockefeller has asked the Legislature to extend the commission's life for two years beyond its scheduled expiration date of April 30.

Here are additional details: Zaretzki said the Democratic leadership was aiming for final adjournment of the 1965 legislative session, already one of the longest on record, by the end of May.

Still pending are decisions on such issues as a tougher code of ethics for legislators, election reforms, off-track betting on horse races as a new source of state revenue, abolition of capital punishment and raising the minimum drinking age from 18 to 21 years.

Reapportionment remains one of the most difficult, complex problems.

A U.S. District Court ordered the Legislature to submit by May 5 a law embodying a redistricting plan conforming with the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling that seats in both houses be allocated on the basis of population.

Democratic leaders announced originally they would meet the May 5 deadline but now say they will be unable to do so.

Ten months have elapsed since the district court ordered the new plan drafted. It is possible the three-member federal tribunal will tire of the prolonged political and legal squabbling over reapportionment and take matters into its own hands.

Another Voting

day. The Negroes rejected the offer.

Marrisset said the movement was being pushed by younger Negroes with "only a few adults participating."

An estimated 400 persons jammed the church for a rally Monday night. They were told to be ready to march this morning.

Other Developments

There were these other developments on the racial scene: —At Selma, Ala., testimony resumes today in a federal contempt proceeding against Dallas County Sheriff James G. Clark who is under a court order not to interfere with Negroes attempting to register to vote.

—At Parkersburg, Pa., a crowd of Negro youths — as many as 100 at one time, state police said — roamed the streets, hurling rocks and other objects. They broke store and car windows before local and state police brought the disturbance under control Monday night. There were no injuries as a result of the outbreak, touched off when a Negro youth was shot fatally by a white boy during an argument.

—At Cleveland, Ohio, 24 pickets were arrested during a sit-in at the city's new federal office building site. The demonstrators charged discrimination against Negroes in hiring skilled workers for the $32-million federal building under construction.

—At Hayneville, Ala., an attorney for the Ku Klux Klan, Matt H. Murphy of Birmingham, issued a subpoena for President Johnson to testify in the trial of a white klansman charged with the murder of Viola Liuzzo of Detroit. The white civil rights worker was shot to death near Lowndesboro after a civil rights march. The President is not subject to subpoena.

At Hayneville, it was announced that klansman Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, of Fairfield, will be tried Monday in the slaying of Mrs. Liuzzo. No trial date has been set for the other two klansmen, William Orville Eaton, 41, and Eugene Thomas, 42, both of Bessemer. All have pleaded innocent.

HEAR SPEAKER FROM FBI—Stressing that people are turning from spiritual values to material things, and that crime is increasing five times faster than the population, Sunday's speaker at the annual corporate communion of St. Joseph's Holy Name Society lauded the 235 men who attended the event as a demonstration of Faith. John F. Malone, assistant director to J. Edgar Hoover and agent-in-charge of the New York Office, Federal Bureau of Investigation, spoke on Functions of Your FBI. Pointing out that the organization is an investigative force, he urged that citizens cooperate with their local police agencies, "your bulwark of protection against crime." Seated at the head table in the parochial school hall were (l-r) Kingston Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, chairman of the breakfast; FBI Director Malone, guest speaker and a personal friend of the local chief; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. O'Reilly, dean of Ulster County and St. Joseph's pastor; Attorney George A. Beck, toastmaster; and Mayor John J. Schwenk; standing, Police Commissioner Joseph F. Policano, president of the Holy Name; John Bentley, secretary; John C. Porsch, treasurer; Francis T. Argulewicz, a member of the committee; and Stanley Wojdan, marshal. (Freeman photo)

land. Big Island, was inundated when a canal and the Rock River backed up and flooded 50 to 400 homes. Five hundred persons were taken out by boat. Another 500 who moved to upper floors were expected to leave today.

"It looks like the entire island is going to go," a Red Cross spokesman said. The river punched through a dike on Henderson Creek in Illinois about five miles north of Burlington and poured into the community of Gulfport. The 400 residents evacuated Gulfport Saturday night.

More than 1,500 persons have evacuated Fulton, Ill., a town of 3,800 across the river from Clinton, Iowa. Fulton has been accessible only by boat since Friday.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels were pacemakers in a rallying stock market early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

Extension of the steel strike deadline was the tonic which cheered Wall Street and especially those interested in buying steel stocks.

The steels ran up gains of a point or more on a broad front. Other groups such as autos, rubbers, rails, coppers, airlines, chemicals, electronics and electrical equipments followed.

Oil was irregular. Cigarettes declined on news that R.J. Reynolds Tobacco, the nation's largest manufacturer of cigarettes, does not plan to follow the lead of four major cigarette makers by boosting prices.

All the popular averages moved well into new high ground. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.5 to 340.3 with industrials up 2.5, rails up .3 and utilities up .3. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.05 at 920.91 trimming a gain of 5.05 at 11 a.m. EDT.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

by ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Advisor and Analyst

Income, Growth Are Usually Incompatible

Q) "I am 67 years of age and have just become a widow. My estate consists of 200 American Telephone, $30,000 in mutual funds and $20,000 in the bank. There will soon be $15,000 to invest and I am interested in slight growth but good income. What do you advise?" —E.P.

A) I offer you my sincere sympathy on the loss of your husband. It is a rule of the marketplace that a stock's yield is usually in inverse proportion to its growth. I will suggest some good income stocks but I must tell you that they are not considered to be in the growth category. I like Maytag, which has shown a long upward earnings pattern in the competitive appliance market. The shares sell to yield 4.8 per cent. Libby-Owens-Ford Glass — besides its industrial business — supplies most of General Motors' requirements and offers a 4.9 per cent return (excluding last year's extra). And finally, I suggest Atchafalpa Rwy., selling on a 4.7 per cent basis, quite well secured.

Q) "I own E bonds dated 1942. I would like to convert these to H bonds. Can you tell me where the bonds must be sent for exchange. Must I endorse each bond? What is the best time to make the exchange?" —H.G.

A) Your bonds must be sent for exchange to a Federal Reserve Bank, but frequently your local bank will act as your agent. Before exchange can be made, you must fill out a special form which your bank may have. If not, request the form by writing to the Treasury Department, Savings Bond Division, Washington, D. C. The form must be signed and should carry your Social Security number, if any; and each bond must be endorsed as well. Make the exchange only at or near the date when your six months' interest accrues, since there is no interim interest paid if your bonds are exchanged.

Uptown Urban

uptown project, the city will obtain, in addition to overall renewal of the area, almost $2 million in physical improvements, including streets, sanitary services, storm drains, water lines, street trees, fire alarm and traffic control systems, a new park and parking facilities.

Eric Hemphill, the agency's executive director, noted that the Lions Club show exhibits are "another step in continuing public information efforts, which the agency deems so essential to its work." Within the next several months, he said, agency members and consultants will attend meetings to explain project plans and related details.

To Give Out Plans

To be distributed also at the Lions Club show is a 12-page brochure describing the project. Among improvements to result from the project will be the extension and realignment of Clinton Avenue, the widening of Washington and Hurley avenues, Converse and Green streets, and part of North Front Street.

It will bring 1,100 new off-street parking spaces, a pedestrian shopping mall along parts of North Front and Wall streets, and rehabilitation of structures fronting on the streets. It will preserve historical structures, and provide new offices, general commercial sites, and apartments to help strengthen the local tax base. The area will have new street paving and sidewalks, trees, street lights and park facilities.

To Clear Flood Threat

It is planned also to remove the flood threat in a project area bounded by the Esopus Creek.

A major emphasis is placed on rehabilitation of existing structures.

Nat. Parish, partner in charge of this project for Raymond & May Associates, the agency said, has described the plan "as perhaps the most satisfying renewal project" undertaken by their urban design team. The opportunity is rare, he said, "to blend historic preservation with business district improvements, and judicious clearance with conservation of sound older structures."

Parish added: "We believe we have achieved an effective accommodation between the motor car and the pedestrian. Each will be able to move about without interfering with the other. The plan provides for two fundamental necessities: exciting urban spaces for pedestrians and good access and easy parking for the automobile."

The date palm is perhaps the oldest cultivated tree known to history.

Reaction Mixed

der Puff Derby, said: "I hate to be a traitor to my sex, but I do think men can go it alone in this field for a while. The time will come when women can contribute, but space flights should be left up to the men for the time being."

Mary Atkins, of Wichita, Mrs. Noah's widow in the 1964 derby, said: "We couldn't gain any prestige by putting a woman into space just for the sake of doing it — Russia has beat us to the punch on this. This country feels protective toward women and leaves it to the men to do the pioneering."

Wishes for Youth

Katherine Peden, Kentucky commissioner of commerce, said she wished she were young enough to apply.

"I feel the hazards of being the first woman astronaut are not greater than being the first commerce commissioner in Kentucky," said Miss Peden.

Judith Thompson, a Chicago housewife, and Eleanor Lally, a Los Angeles property manager, said they couldn't care less.

"Why should some darn fool woman want to shoot herself at the moon?" asked Mrs. Thompson.

Mrs. Larry Starnes, wife of a Houston architect, said, "They can leave it to the men. I won't even go up in an airplane."

Janet Mann, a retired bartender from Quincy, Mass., says she'd like to go to the moon some day, but: "Not until I can do it for $13.50. It ought to be safe then. I like things well tried."

Jeering Crowd

driving to the area from surrounding communities, roamed through this rural community of 2,500 in cars.

Reinforcements Arrive

Authorities from surrounding towns arrived to reinforce the local force.

Ferguson had gone into the service station late in the afternoon and got into an argument with Houck, police said. A shotgun blast into Ferguson's stomach killed him. Houck was arrested and held at the juvenile home in nearby West Chester.

One of the slain youth's schoolmates, Charlotte Harris, said Ferguson had gone into the station for a cold drink. She said she had told him, "Don't go across the street, because Teddy has a knife, but he didn't listen to me."

Frank Armstrong, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in nearby Coatesville, said, "These people demonstrated because that white boy shot a Negro boy and he thought he had a right to do it. They (Negroes) have a lot of grievances against this town. Something should be done about it."

The population of Parkersburg, which is some 60 miles west of Philadelphia, is about 10 per cent Negro.

60,000,000 TIMES A DAY

The American people buy this many daily newspapers every day. Newspaper circulation

has been climbing steadily ever since the appearance of America's first daily more than 180 years ago...and it's still growing. Last year daily newspaper circulation reached a record 60,412,266—an increase of more than 1,500,000 over 1963—the greatest single increase in almost 20 years!

More people are buying newspapers today because newspapers have more to offer. Statistically, they carry more news in greater depth as well as more advertising than ever before.

There is hardly an American home that doesn't receive at least one daily newspaper regularly. People depend on their newspapers. Could you get along without yours?

Set Orientation Meeting for OCS Junior Program

The Guidance Department of Onteora Central School will conduct a number of orientation meetings for students and parents of students who will be moving into a junior high school program next year. These meetings are designed to give students and parents an opportunity to get answers to some of the questions they may have.

The transition from grade school to junior high school can be a frightening and bewildering experience. The Guidance Department makes use of orientation meetings in the hope that the transition will take place with the least amount of difficulty.

On Thursday evening, May 6th, at 7:30 p. m., in the cafeteria of the central building in Boiceville, a meeting will be held between the parents and prospective teachers of students who will attend 7th grade in the central building next year. A similar meeting between the parents and teachers of students who will attend 7th grade in Woodstock is being planned for Thursday, May 13th, at 7:30 p. m., in the auditorium of the Woodstock school.

Response Good to Medicare Forum At Demos Club

Officials of the Woodstock Democratic Club report an "overwhelming state wide response" to their announcement two weeks ago that the club would sponsor a public forum on the topic: "The Future of Government—Subsidized Medical Care, better known as Medicare." The forum will be held Friday at 7:30 at Deane's in Woodstock.

Nationally known principal participants will be: Dr. Caldwell B. Esselstyn, of Hudson, former chairman of President Kennedy's Physicians' Committee for Health Care for the Aged through Social Security; and Dr. George J. Lawrence, Jr. of Flushing, L. I., chairman of the New York State Medical Society's Federal Legislation Committee.

Dr. Burg Moderator

The forum will be moderated by Dr. Norman N. Burg, well known Woodstock physician. "Groups, contingents and individuals from county medical societies, hospitals, universities, governmental agencies, civic and political organizations, as well as a great number of private citizens, from all over the northeast have confirmed that they will be in attendance at the forum," commented Charles Mason, the Democratic Club's Medicare chairman. He cautioned that, "because the seating capacity at Deane's is limited to 250 people, early arrival by the audience is advisable." No admission to the forum will be charged, and "the public is most cordially invited to attend and enrich their knowledge about one of the most vital matters ever to have affected the total population of the United States."

Format Is Set

Drs. Esselstyn and Lawrence will each be given 15 minutes by the moderator to make an opening statement. Subsequently, they will each be assigned 5 minutes to rebutt the other. Rebuttals will be further allocated. Two weeks ago, the U. S. House of Representatives passed the Johnson Administration $6 billion-a-year medicare bill and sent it to the Senate. Debate on the bill in the Senate will begin next week, but swift approval of the bill is almost certain. The bill has three parts: a hospitalization program for persons 65 or older, to be financed under social security; a voluntary program providing major additional benefits for persons 65 or over; and an extension of the present Kerr-Mills federal medical assistance-for-the-aged program. "This most significant legislative milestone will be given an in-depth examination by the forum, as well as those problem areas left unsolved by the Medicare bill," concluded Mason.

Blaze in Shady Was Put Up Job

A dense cloud of smoke alerted the residents of the Shady valley to the possibility of a fire, Sunday morning. And there was a fire—a large, abandoned barn was completely involved in flames.

It was what is known as a "controlled fire" as the members of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1, under the personal direction of Chief George Haythorne and assistant Chiefs Duncan Wilson and Robert Breitenstein, burned the old barn for a practice session.

Prior to "touching off" the barn, Fire Company No. 1 stationed a pumper, a tank truck, and the emergency truck in position, rolled out the necessary hose lines, and had everything in readiness for the event.

Then came the flames and the smoke rolled over the valley, causing the residents to scurry in the direction of the fire and to carry their cameras with them.

Three hours later there was only rubble to show where the old barn had been, and the firemen from Woodstock village had participated in a "real, live fire."

New Head of C of C
WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Chamber of Commerce named as its new president to date Robert P. Gerholz, a Flint, Mich., builder.

His election to succeed Walter F. Carey of Birmingham, Mich., as head of the country's largest business organization was announced at the chamber's 43d annual convention.

Virginia Plan On Voting Loses In U. S. Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court struck down today Virginia's requirement that persons who want to vote in federal elections without paying the state's poll tax must file certificates of residence.

The decision was given on a Virginia appeal from a ruling by a three-judge U. S. District Court in Richmond. The district court said the certificate requirement was unconstitutional because it imposed unreasonable burden on voters in elections for president, vice president and members of Congress.

Chief Justice Earl Warren delivered the 9-0 decision. In delivering the opinion, Warren noted that it was the first case to be decided under the 24th Amendment to the Constitution. The amendment bars the poll tax in federal elections.

Virginia's plan, adopted in an emergency session of the Legislature in 1963, required that certificates of residence be filed six months before elections. Voters who pay poll taxes in local and state elections are not required to file the certificates.

Dear Abby . . . 'Nuff Said!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You are a hypocrite! In one column you tell teen-agers to grow up before they get married. And then you turn around and write a column congratulating women on being the youngest grandmothers you can find.

Tell me, what kind of "honor" is it to have a baby at 13 or 14? I wonder how the average mother would feel if her 14-year-old daughter came home and said, "Mom, I'm pregnant." Would Mom say, "It's okay, dear, now I can enter Dear Abby's Youngest Granny contest!"

MOTHER AT 29 (and that was soon enough)

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a woman has to get all dressed up to go marketing? My husband and I always do our week's shopping together on Saturday afternoon. I am a rather large woman and when I dress up I wear a foundation garment, but I never bother to put one on just to spend an hour or two in my own neighborhood shopping center. I just throw on any old house dress that's handy.

Last Saturday my husband blew his top and said he wasn't going to be seen with me if I went like that. We had a few words and I gave him my shopping list and he went alone. Do you see anything wrong with a woman dressed the way I was just to go marketing in her own neighborhood? If someone I knew saw me that way I'm sure they'd think nothing of it.

"COMFORTABLE"

DEAR COMFORTABLE: The opinion of your husband is far more important than the opinion of chance acquaintances. Furthermore, a sturdy foundation is essential in all marriages, and a wise wife won't mind struggling into one to please her husband.

DEAR ABBY: A woman asked me over morning coffee if the Swede I was married to was "cold." I was taken aback and replied only, "No." Abby, my Swede is anything but "cold." He is over fifty now and there were times when I had wished he were older. Where do people get the mistaken idea that Swedes are "cold?"

A SWEDISH WIFE

DEAR WIFE: It is probably a rumor started by a Norwegian.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LENA IN JERSEY: I also believe in letting sleeping dogs lie, but next time, wake up your husband and ask him to tell you the truth.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif.

Dear Abby . . . 'Nuff Said!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You are a hypocrite! In one column you tell teen-agers to grow up before they get married. And then you turn around and write a column congratulating women on being the youngest grandmothers you can find.

Tell me, what kind of "honor" is it to have a baby at 13 or 14?

I wonder how the average mother would feel if her 14-year-old daughter came home and said, "Mom, I'm pregnant." Would Mom say, "It's okay, dear, now I can enter Dear Abby's Youngest Granny contest?"

MOTHER AT 29 (and that was soon enough)

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a woman has to get all dressed up to go marketing? My husband and I always do our week's shopping together on Saturday afternoon. I am a rather large woman and when I dress up I wear a foundation garment, but I never bother to put one on just to spend an hour or two in my own neighborhood shopping center. I just throw on any old house-dressed that's handy.

Last Saturday my husband blew his top and said he wasn't going to be seen with me if I went like that. We had a few words and I gave him my shopping list and he went alone. Do you see anything wrong with a woman dressed the way I was just to go marketing in her own neighborhood? If someone I knew saw me that way I'm sure they'd think nothing of it.

"COMFORTABLE"

DEAR COMFORTABLE: The opinion of your husband is far more important than the opinion of chance acquaintances. Furthermore, a sturdy foundation is essential in all marriages, and a wise wife won't mind struggling into one to please her husband.

DEAR ABBY: A woman asked me over morning coffee if the Swede I was married to was "cold." I was taken aback and replied only, "No." Abby, my Swede is anything but "cold." He is over fifty now and there were times when I had wished he were older. Where do people get the mistaken idea that Swedes are "cold?"

A SWEDISH WIFE

DEAR WIFE: It is probably a rumor started by a Norwegian.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LENA IN JERSEY: I also believe in letting sleeping dogs lie . . . but next time, wake up your husband and ask him to tell you the truth.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

MAY DINNER INVITATION BE TELEPHONED TO HUSBAND

Q: When telephoning a dinner invitation to a married couple and the husband answers the telephone, may the hostess give the message to him, or must she speak to the wife and extend the invitation to her?

A: She should ask to speak to the wife, but if she is unable to come to the telephone, the hostess may properly give the message to the husband, inviting them both to dine with her.

Invitation to a Double Wedding
Q: A very dear friend and I are planning to be married at a double wedding. As we are not sisters or in any way related, must separate invitations be sent or would it be proper to send one invitation with both our names, and if so, how should it be worded?

A: One invitation with both your names would be proper and the wording would be:

Mr. and Mrs. John Jones and
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown request the honour of your presence at the marriage of their daughters
Mary Ellen Jones
to
Mr. Judson Gray and Elizabeth Ann Brown
to
Mr. Robert Lake

Stork Shower For Second Baby
Q: Will you please tell me if it is proper to give a stork shower for a second baby?

A: There is no reason why a shower may not be given for a second baby. It should not, however, be given by a member of the mother-to-be's family or a close relative.

Library Week Is Observed With Notable Books

The Kingston City Library is having a display of new, notable and award winning books on display in its lobby for National Library Week, through May 1. Included in the collection will be:

The Oysters of Locmariaquer, by Eleanor Clark, is a story about those oysters of northern France known to be among the best in the world. It is a vivid objective account of how these oysters are cultivated and at the same time, it is an excursion into the history, myths and legends of Brittany. The book just won the National Book Award.

The Far Field, by Theodore Roethke, is a collection of the last poems of a major American poet. The poetry reveals both the brilliance of style and the inner meaning that Roethke poured into his work. This book, also, has just received the National Book Award in poetry.

Fiddler on the Roof, by Jerry Bock, based on the wonderful stories of Sholom Aleichem, is undoubtedly one of the best musicals of the decade. This book features the full text, lyrics and photographs from the production.

The Oxford History of the American People, by Samuel Eliot Morison, is a very brilliant new history incorporating all the recent research on our history from the prehistoric American to JFK.

The Italians, by Luigi Barzini, is an exploration of that nation's paradoxes, privacies and delights from its classical past to its sometimes glossy present. It is a history, sociology and psychology of a nation.

For the Union Dead, by Robert Lowell, is a collection of 35 poems with a wide range of moods and subjects, and settings as different as New York and South America, New England and Italy.

Meriwether Lewis, by Richard Dillon, is a biography of undoubtedly the greatest pathfinder this country has ever known. The crucial expedition that he and William Clark led up the Missouri River opened up the American West.

It's Your Community: A Guide to Civic Development and Beautification, by two well-known landscape architects, Henry Raymond and H. Stuart Orloff, tells how the average citizen may take the initiative to preserve and improve the appearance of his community.

The New Face of War, by Malcolm Browne, is about the struggle in Vietnam, a subject on which Browne won a Pulitzer Prize for reporting in 1964. The book describes the long ugly war in which we are involved and goes behind the scenes to reveal the true issues.

Home Place, the story of the U. S. House of Representatives, by veteran Washington reporter William S. White, is more than a history. White discusses the problems of seniority and its effects—good and bad, and delves into the matter of reapportionment.

The Businessman's Guide to Washington, by William Ruder and Raymond Nathan, is a comprehensive panorama of the Federal Government agencies, their structure and their vast resources. It shows the businessman where to go, whom to see and how to set up a continuing program of business-government relations.

These and many more new books are now on display at the Kingston City Library. Library hours are 10:30 a. m. to 8:30 p. m. Monday through Friday, and 1 to 5 p. m., Saturday.

Fire Damages Van Buskirk Building, Store

An elderly woman was rescued and another family evacuated late Monday afternoon from the burning Van Buskirk building at Main and Partition Street, Saugerties.

Mrs. Agnes Van Buskirk, about 80, who lived in an apartment above the empty store was assisted to the street by Robert Speirs and Patrolman John Pavlak. The John Kolano family was also evacuated before the thick smoke coming from the basement and rear of the floor reached the upper rooms.

Patrolman Pavlak said that when the fire was noticed about 5:40 p. m. someone on the street said that Mrs. Van Buskirk was in the upstairs apartment and would have trouble getting out. Speirs rushed up the stairs and assisted the woman out of the room which started to fill with smoke. Pavlak close behind Speirs assisted in the rescue.

Mrs. Van Buskirk was taken to Dale's Sanitarium.

The three-story brick and stone building consists of an empty store, which formerly housed Paramount Pharmacy, and apartments on the second and third floors.

All four units of Saugerties Fire Department responded to the scene. Centerville Fire Company was called through Mutual Aid for standby duty in the event of another fire. Malden West Camp Fire Company emergency truck was also called to the scene.

Officer Pavlak said the fire apparently started in the basement and swept into the rear of the empty store where considerable damage was reported.

Kenneth Barnes, proprietor of Paramount Pharmacy and Department store next door said there was some minor smoke damage in his store and that some merchandise and fixtures belonging to him were damaged in the empty store.

A Perfectionist

Heifetz Loking For Outstanding Talent in Violin

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I am a teacher; I need students." With that simple comment, violin virtuoso Jascha Heifetz issued a call for young musicians to study under his guidance.

Heifetz is a perfectionist in all things. He has devoted his entire life to the violin. In his new work as a teacher he strives for perfection on a smaller scale, but perfection nonetheless.

He has been disturbed by the progress of his classes at the University of Southern California. He feels they have been successful, but limited. That was what he wanted to talk about one afternoon at his villa atop Beverly Hills.

"I want to let students know that I am looking for outstanding talent," he remarked. "I know there is talent out there, but I haven't been getting it in large enough numbers. I would like to appeal to the violin teachers and professors of the country to loosen up and send me their best pupils."

Heifetz added wryly: "The fact that I am teaching at USC has been a well-kept secret. It is about time the secret was let out."

The Heifetz master class, a title he is a bit uneasy about, is a curious one by academic standards.

"We don't go by the book," he explained. "I give no medals, no diplomas, no grades. Students can now get credit for the course, but that is something recent. While I do not give grades, I may flunk a student. I am a teacher; it is my duty."

"We meet twice a week, but there is no set time for the length of the class. There are six or seven in the class now, plus auditors. Each student plays with the others listening; that is how they learn. A student might play five minutes or two hours, according to how well prepared he is."

"One semester they want to start on concertos," he said, shaking his head. "There is too much money around, too many prizes and scholarships. The students don't study enough; the greatest lack today is discipline. They must practice self-denial in order to achieve."

Library Week Is Observed With Notable Books

The Kingston City Library is having a display of new, notable and award winning books on display in its lobby for National Library Week, through May 1. Included in the collection will be:

The Oysters of Locmariaquer, by Eleanor Clark, is a story about those oysters of northern France known to be among the best in the world. It is a vivid, objective account of how these oysters are cultivated and at the same time, it is an excursion into the history, myths and legends of Brittany. The book just won the National Book Award.

The Far Field, by Theodore Roethke, is a collection of the best poems of a major American poet. The poetry reveals both the brilliance of style and the inner meaning that Roethke poured into his work. This book, also, has just received the National Book Award in poetry.

Fiddler on the Roof, by Jerry Bock, based on the wonderful stories of Sholom Aleichem, is undoubtedly one of the best musicals of the decade. This book features the full text, lyrics and photographs from the production.

The Oxford History of the American People, by Samuel Eliot Morison, is a very brilliant new history incorporating all the recent research on our history from the prehistoric American to JFK.

The Italians, by Luigi Barzini, is an exploration of that nation's paradoxes, privacies and delights from its classical past to its sometimes glib present. It is a history, sociology and psychology of a nation.

For the Union Dead, by Robert Lowell, is a collection of 35 poems with a wide range of moods and subjects, and settings as different as New York and South America, New England and Italy.

Meriwether Lewis, by Richard Dillon, is a biography of undoubtedly the greatest pathfinder in this country as ever known. The crucial expedition that he and William Clark led up the Missouri River opened up the American West.

It's Your Community: A Guide to Civic Development and Beautification, by two well-known landscape architects, Henry Raymond and H. Stuart Orloff, tells how the average citizen may take the initiative to preserve and improve the appearance of his community.

The New Face of War, by Malcolm Browne, is about the struggle in Vietnam, a subject on which Browne won a Pulitzer Prize for reporting in 1964. The book describes the long ugly war in which we are involved and goes behind the scenes to reveal the true issues.

Home Place, the story of the U. S. House of Representatives, by veteran Washington reporter William S. White, is more than a history. White discusses the problem of seniority and its effects—good and bad, and delves into the matter of reapportionment.

The Businessman's Guide to Washington, by William Ruder and Raymond Nathan, is a comprehensive panorama of the Federal Government agencies, their structure and their vast resources. It shows the businessman where to go, whom to see and how to set up a continuing program of business-government relations.

These and many more new books are now on display at the Kingston City Library. Library hours are 10:30 a. m. to 8:30 p. m. Monday through Friday, and 1 to 5 p. m., Saturday.

SAUGERTIES List Final Arrangements For Loyalty Day Saturday

Loyalty Day—May 1—a day of rededication to the American way of life—will be observed in Saugerties Saturday with prayers, a parade and a dance.

Under the sponsorship of the Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW and its Ladies' Auxiliary, next Saturday's program consists of a Mass at St. Mary of the Snow Church at 9 a. m., followed by an appropriate patriotic service at First Congregational Church, Main Street at 10:30 a. m.

An afternoon parade stepping off at 2 p. m. will feature the youth of Saugerties comprised of the units of the Boy Scouts, Cubs, Brownies, Campfire, Blue Birds, etc. Line up is at 1 p. m. in the vicinity of the Main Street school yard. Any youth groups not already contacted are invited to participate, according to the parade marshal, Frank Hallion. Frankfurters and soda will be given the marchers at Cantine's Field at the conclusion of the parade.

A dance in the VFW Hall at 9 p. m. will complete the day. Open to the public, music will be provided by the K-Ray trio. The tickets may be purchased at the door. The cost includes food and liquid refreshments for the night.

In accordance to the wishes of the past president Dwight Eisenhower who officially signed the bill on July 18, 1958, proclaiming May 1 as a day of patriotism, the local VFW Post and Auxiliary urged public spirited cooperation by flying their flags, attending the church services, attending the parade, and celebrate at the dance.

"This is an opportunity for the public to do something more vigorously American," explains the chairman, Joseph Cusack. "More than just sitting on the sidelines and complaining. It's old fashioned patriotism at work!" Assisting the chairman is Mrs. Peggy Wade, Auxiliary president.

Those wishing to help financially to defray the costs of the program may send donations to VFW Loyalty Day Fund, Livingston Street, Saugerties. There is no public solicitation this year.

Saugerties Parent-Teacher Association extends an invitation to all area residents to attend its Thursday meeting this week at the Main Street School at 8 p. m. to hear the candidates for the Board of Education speak on their qualifications for the three open positions.

The election of board members will take place on Wednesday, May 5, between the hours of noon and 9 p. m. in the Main Street School.

Candidates include incumbent Jack O. Pakenen of Oakledge Park, unopposed; John Southam of Austin Avenue, running unopposed for the seat being vacated by Stuart Buchanan of Hemlock Court; and Robert Cline of Washburn Terrace and Perry Bunyar of Lafayette Street for the seat vacated by Robert Herb. There will be a question and answer period.

Also on the agenda is election of officers for the P-TA for the coming year. The slate includes Mrs. Ralph Raimondi, president; Mrs. Frederick Stegmayer, first vice president; Mrs. John B. Bolton, secretary; Mrs. Herbert A. Cole, recording secretary and Mrs. Harvey Bostic, treasurer.

Refreshments and a social hour will follow in the cafeteria of the school.

Fire Damages Van Buskirk Building, Store
An elderly woman was rescued and another family evacuated late Monday afternoon from the burning Van Buskirk building at Main and Partition Streets, Saugerties.

Mrs. Agnes Van Buskirk, about 80, who lived in an apartment above the empty store was assisted to the street by Robert Speirs and Patrolman John Pavlak. The John Kolano family was also evacuated before the thick smoke coming from the basement and rear of the floor reached the upper rooms.

Patrolman Pavlak said that when the fire was noticed about 5:40 p. m. someone on the street said that Mrs. Van Buskirk, widow of Herbert Van Buskirk was in the upstairs apartment and would have trouble getting out. Speirs rushed up the stairs and assisted the woman out of the room which started to fill with smoke. Pavlak close behind Speirs assisted in the rescue.

Mrs. Van Buskirk was taken to Dale's Sanitarium.

The three-story brick and stone building consists of an empty store, which formerly housed Paramount Pharmacy, and apartments on the second and third floors.

All four units of Saugerties Fire Department responded to the scene. Centerville Fire Company was called through Mutual Aid for standby duty in the event of another fire. Malden-West Camp Fire Company emergency truck was also called to the scene.

Officer Pavlak said the fire apparently started in the basement and swept into the rear of the empty store where considerable damage was reported.

Kenneth Barnes, proprietor of Paramount Pharmacy and Department store next door said there was some minor smoke damage in his store and that some merchandise and fixtures belonging to him were damaged in the empty store.

A Perfectionist Heifetz Loking For Outstanding Talent in Violin

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I am a teacher; I need students." With that simple comment, violin virtuoso Jascha Heifetz issued a call for young musicians to study under his guidance.

Heifetz is a perfectionist in all things. He has devoted his entire life to the violin. In his new work as a teacher he strives for perfection on a smaller scale, but perfection nonetheless.

He has been disturbed by the progress of his classes at the University of Southern California. He feels they have been successful, but limited. That was what he wanted to talk about one afternoon at his villa atop Beverly Hills.

"I want to let students know that I am looking for outstanding talent," he remarked. "I know there is talent out there, but I haven't been getting it in large enough numbers. I would like to appeal to the violin teachers and professors of the country to loosen up and send me their best pupils."

Heifetz added wryly: "The fact that I am teaching at USC has been a well-kept secret. It is about time the secret was let out."

The Heifetz master class, a title he is a bit uneasy about, is a curious one by academic standards.

"We don't go by the book," he explained. "I give no medals, no diplomas, no grades. Students can now get credit for the course, but that is something recent. While I do not give grades, I may flunk a student. I am a teacher; it is my duty."

"We meet twice a week, but there is no set time for the length of the class. There are six or seven in the class now, plus auditors. Each student plays with the others listening; that is how they learn. A student might play five minutes or two hours, according to how well prepared he is."

"One semester and they want to start on concerts," he said, shaking his head. "There is too much money around, too many prizes and scholarships. The students don't study enough; the greatest lack today is discipline. They must practice self-discipline in order to achieve."

Heifetz's own life and career proves that. He still maintains a rigid practice schedule to a minimum, playing occasionally with his good friend, cellist Gregor Piatigorsky.

"I am not dying out," the violinist commented, "just fading away."

Mario Savio Leaves Free Speech Movement
BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Mario Savio, the 22-year-old leader of the student revolt at the University of California, has left the Free Speech Movement and he says he might step out of the Berkeley campus picture entirely.

Savio made his surprising farewell Monday at a student rally on the steps of Sproul Hall, the administration building into which he led about 1,000 persons last December for a massive sit-in.

"This is my last rally," said Savio.

Like any proud pop Max Lanier, the old pitcher of the Cardinals and Giants, envisioned a major league career for his little boy Hal. Where Max was short and chunky, Hal sprouted to 6-2 and also starred as an all-state basketball player. What Max didn't know was that Hal also turned out for high school football one spring in St. Petersburg, Fla., as a pitching quarterback. . . .

The San Francisco Giants finally signed him for a $35,000 bonus. He was a pitcher then, like Max, but right-handed, and had won 33 and lost 3 in his prep days. The Giants broke him in as a shortstop, a position he had played two games. . . .

In his first spring camp, 1962, manager Alvin Dark asked Hal if he'd ever played second base. Young Lanier shook his head. "Well, you're a second baseman now," said Alvin. Two years later he was Dark's regular at the pivot for San Francisco. The call to the majors came when Hal was at Tacoma. He flew all night to St. Louis to join the club last June 17, went right to the ball park instead of the hotel, was put in the starting lineup and has been there ever since. . . .

And behind him in centerfield is Willie Mays. When Hal was 10 years old and his dad was still pitching for the Giants in the old Polo Grounds, Willie used to play catch with him in the outfield. . . .

Terrible Tommy Bolt was getting ready to hit an iron shot in a tournament played in the West. As he addressed the ball, a deer came out of the woods and ran across his line of flight. He stopped, wagged the club again, and another deer popped out on the fairway. Bolt halted his swing. As he addressed the ball a third time, it happened again, another deer crossing his path. Redfaced, Tommy screamed, "Marshall! Marshall!" for the crowd control men. . . .

Think Carl McAdams, Oklahoma's brilliant linebacker, wasn't proud to get his NEA All-American awards? He got there late, for the official presentation in Amarillo, Tex. (Carl's from nearby White Deer)—but only because he had to drive through a raging blizzard to make the ceremony. . . .

One of the more refreshing young personalities in pro tennis is Mike Davies of England. Kenny Rosewall of Australia has been afflicted with sudden attacks of rashes the last couple of years. "He always breaks out," said Davies, "just before he plays Pancho Gonzales" . . . and on the state of tennis generally: "The pros run their tennis amateurishly; the amateurs run theirs professionally." . . .

What was really behind the recent peace powwows of the NFL Players Association and the pro football owners was the disturbance of the latter group over the growing breach between commissioner Pete Rozelle and the players. Which threatened to spill over onto the field. . . .

Most catchers risk injury on those collisions at the plate, when they're forced to block runners. But Johnny Orsino of the Baltimore Orioles has had his last couple of years blighted by hand injuries suffered when he himself did the sliding. . . . Last year's woes by Willie McCovey of the Giants, it turns out, trace to bad shoes that didn't support his fallen arches. . . .

Worried about having to spring on the 19th hole? Straight from the Life Savers Hole-in-One Committee, we get the word that the chances against an ace are 6,000-to-1. . . .

Between you'n me, the Washington Redskins are more worried than they let on about the calcification that has formed in the throwing arm of Sonny Jurgenson, and which resists treatment. . . .

Russell's Eye Not in Danger

BOSTON (AP) — Bill Russell's basketball future has not been endangered by an accidental poke in the eye.

The Celtics center says he will play at least one more season and predicts, "We stand an excellent chance of keeping the title."

The center who has led Boston to eight National Basketball Association championships in nine years and was injured when the Celtics missed the top prize in 1958 has been ordered to rest.

Dr. Baruch Sachs prescribed the precautionary inactivity so that Russell's right eye can be observed and hemorrhaging will not resume back of the eye. The injury occurred in the second quarter of the 129-96 title game triumph over Los Angeles Sunday.

Russell must remain at home and cannot participate in the downtown motorcade honoring the team today or tonight's annual dinner labeled the Celtics' "breakup"—a word they allow themselves, but a deed NBA rivals have failed to accomplish in seven years.

Confined to Home
Russell says he can't tell how much longer he'll play pro ball but adds: "I'm coming back next year. As far as my eye is concerned, I have no fear that there is anything permanently wrong with it."

Russell calls the current Celtics "the greatest team we've ever had."

Russell is quick to absolve Laker Jerry West of blame for the eye incident Sunday but admits, afterward, "I couldn't see."

"We all try to watch our hands. It is one thing to win a game and quite another to hurt somebody."

"My vision, straightened out after awhile."

Notables Slated For Jaycee L.L.

Three political notables have accepted invitations to attend the Jaycee Little League opener on May 9.

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson and Mayor John J. Schwenk will be at ceremonies scheduled to start at 1 p. m. at the upper Forsyth Park diamond.

Troop 12, Boy Scouts, will entertain. The public is invited.

Phils End Sandy Hex On 4-3 Win

The Philadelphia Phillies finally have caught up with Sandy Koufax. But the National League still hasn't caught up with Dave Giusti.

While the Phillies were edging the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 Monday night and beating Koufax for the first time since 1961, Giusti pitched the Houston Astros to their fifth straight victory with a four-hit, 2-0 job against Pittsburgh.

It was the first complete game of Giusti's major league career and gave the 25-year-old right-hander a remarkable record of three victories in Houston's last five games. In four appearances this season, the former Syracuse University standout has an eye-opening .64 earned-run average.

Giusti was overpowering against the Pirates, striking out nine and walking none. The triumph lifted the Astros one game above .500, and Giusti received an unusual hero's welcome when he returned to the Houston dressing room.

Finally realizing it was locked, he knocked out Walter Bond, peered out and said: "Somebody out there knocking?"

Bond In Key Role

Bond also played a key role as the Astros scored twice off Bob Friend in the seventh inning. Singles by Jim Wynn, Bond and Bob Aspromonte produced one run and Bond scored the other on Bob Bailey's error after advancing to third on Rusty Staub's long fly.

The Dodgers and Phillies tangled in the only other game scheduled in the majors, with Koufax going for his 10th straight victory against Philadelphia.

But the Phillies, triggered by Johnny Callison's homer, jumped on the ace Dodger left-hander for three runs in the first inning and that was it.

There was no indication that Koufax had suffered any recurrence of the arthritic condition that has troubled him this season. He was lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth inning after surrendering seven hits.

After Callison's homer with one out, Richie Allen singled and Dick Stuart drove him in with a double. Stuart scored when Al Ferrera misjudged Cookie Rojas' drive and it sailed over his head for a triple.

Rojas scored the final Philadelphia run in the ninth when he walked, stole second and came home on Clay Dalrymple's single. That turned out to be decisive.

Girard Is Referee At Judo Matches

Al Girard of Kingston was a referee at recent judo matches between West Point and the Newark College of Engineering; West Point and New York and New York Maritime College and West Point and Arlington, Va. West Point won the matches, scoring 55 points to 68 for Maritime and 57 for NCE and then beating Arlington, 50-12.

New York-Penn League Postponed by Rain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Rare Event

Dick Scherer to Sing At Mets Kingston Day

The New York Mets have agreed to an unusual ceremony as part of Old Timers Baseball Association Kingston Day on Sunday, June 13, O.T.B.A. President John J. McCordie announced today.

Richard (Dick) Scherer, Kingston's popular patrolman-tenor, will be allowed to sing two selections between games of the Mets-Dodgers doubleheader. The program will be unprecedented in the annals of "days" in a major league ball park. McCordie has been informed by John F. Geis of the Mets public relations department.

Scherer will sing two numbers—a ballad and a number in the modern idiom.

Geis first heard Scherer at the Old Timers Hall of Fame dinner last December and was deeply impressed. The idea of having Scherer sing at Shea Stadium grew out of that meeting.

A member of the Kingston Police Department for seven years, Scherer is widely known in music circles. He has been soloist for St. Peter's choir for many years and is a member of the church's Holy Name Society. For years he has sung at the annual Veterans' of Foreign Wars ceremonies honoring the war dead.

In addition, Scherer has appeared at Knot Hole League openings, several Old Timers dinners; minstrel shows at St. Peter's, Holy Name clubs, the

"The Best In The House" in 87 Lands

Like any proud pop Max Lanier, the old pitcher of the Cardinals and Giants, envisioned a major league career for his little boy Hal. Where Max was short and chunky, Hal sprouted to 6-2 and also starred as an all-state basketball player. What Max didn't know was that Hal also turned out for high school football one spring in St. Petersburg, Fla., as a pitching quarterback.

The San Francisco Giants finally signed him for a $35,000 bonus. He was a pitcher then, like Max, but right-handed, and had won 33 and lost 3 in his prep days. The Giants broke him in as a shortstop, a position he had played two games.

In his first spring camp, 1962, manager Alvin Dark asked Hal if he'd ever played second base. Young Lanier shook his head. "Well, you're a second baseman now," said Alvin. Two years later he was Dark's regular at the pivot for San Francisco. The call to the majors came when Hal was at Tacoma. He flew all night to St. Louis to join the club last June 17, went right to the ball park instead of the hotel, was put in the starting lineup and had been there ever since.

And behind him in centerfield is Willie Mays. When Hal was 10 years old and his dad was still pitching for the Giants in the old Polo Grounds, Willie used to play catch with him in the outfield.

Terrible Tommy Bolt was getting ready to hit an iron shot in a tournament played in the West. As he addressed the ball, a deer came out of the woods and ran across his line of flight. He stopped, wagged the club again, and another deer popped out on the fairway. Bolt halted his swing. As he addressed the ball a third time, it happened again, another deer crossing his path. Redfaced, Tommy screamed, "Marshall! Marshall!" for the crowd control men.

Think Carl McAdams, Oklahoma's brilliant linebacker, wasn't proud to get his NEA All-American awards? He got there late, for the official presentation in Amarillo, Tex. (Carl's from nearby White Deer) but only because he to drive through a raging blizzard to make the ceremony.

One of the more refreshing young personalities in pro tennis is Mike Davies of England. Kenny Rosewall of Australia has been afflicted with sudden attacks of rashes the last couple of years. "He always breaks out," said Davies, "just before he plays Pancho Gonzales" and on the state of tennis generally: "The pros run their tennis amateurishly; the amateurs run theirs professionally."

What was really behind the recent peace powwows of the NFL Players Association and the pro football owners was the disturbance of the latter group over the growing breach between commissioner Pete Rozelle and the players. Which threatened to spill over onto the field.

Most catchers risk injury on those collisions at the plate, when they're forced to block runners. But Johnny Orsino of the Baltimore Orioles has had his last couple of years blighted by hand injuries suffered when he himself did the sliding. Last year's woes by Willie McCovey of the Giants, it turns out, trace to bad shoes that didn't support his fallen arches.

Worried about having to spring on the 19th hole? Straight from the Life Savers Hole-in-One Committee, we get the word that the chances against an ace are 6,000-to-1.

Between you'n'me, the Washington Redskins are more worried than they let on about the calcification that has formed in the throwing arm of Sonny Jurgenson, and which resists treatment.

Russell's Eye Not in Danger

BOSTON (AP) — Bill Russell's basketball future has not been endangered by an accidental poke in the eye.

The Celtics center says he will play at least one more season and predicts, "We stand an excellent chance of keeping the title."

The center who has led Boston to eight National Basketball Association championships in nine years and was injured when the Celtics missed the top prize in 1958 has been ordered to rest.

Dr. Baruch Sachs prescribed the precautionary inactivity so that Russell's right eye can be observed and hemorrhaging will not resume back of the eye. The injury occurred in the second quarter of the 128-96 title game triumph over Los Angeles Sunday.

Russell must remain at home and cannot participate in the downtown motordrome honoring the team today or tonight's annual dinner labeled the Celtics "breakup"—a word they allow themselves, but a deed NBA rivals have failed to accomplish in seven years.

Confined to Home

Russell says he can't tell how much longer he'll play pro ball but adds: "I'm coming back next year. As far as my eye is concerned, I have no fear that there is anything permanently wrong with it."

Russell calls the current Celtics "the greatest team we've ever had."

Russell is quick to absolve Laker Jerry West of blame for the eye incident Sunday but admits, afterward, "I couldn't see."

"We all try to watch our hands. It is one thing to win a game and quite another to hurt somebody."

"My vision, straightened out after awhile."

Notables Slated For Jaycee L.L.

Three political notables have accepted invitations to attend the Jaycee Little League opener on May 9.

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson and Mayor John J. Schwenk will be at ceremonies scheduled to start at 1 p. m. at the upper Forsyth Park diamond.

Troop 12, Boy Scouts, will entertain. The public is invited.

Phils End Sandy Hex On 4-3 Win

The Philadelphia Phillies finally have caught up with Sandy Koufax. But the National League still hasn't caught up with Dave Giusti.

While the Phillies were edging the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 Monday night and beating Koufax for the first time since 1961, Giusti pitched the Houston Astros to their fifth straight victory with a four-hit, 2-0 job against Pittsburgh.

It was the first complete game of Giusti's major league career and gave the 25-year-old right-hander a remarkable record of three victories in Houston's last five games. In four appearances this season, the former Syracuse University standout has an eye-opening 0.64 earned-run average.

Giusti was overpowering against the Pirates, striking out nine and walking none. The triumph lifted the Astros one game above .500 and Giusti received an unusual hero's welcome when he returned to the Houston dressing room.

Finally realizing it was locked, he knocked. Wait Bond responded, peered out and said: "Somebody out there knocking?"

Bond In Key Role

Bond also played a key role as the Astros scored twice off Bob Friend in the seventh inning. Singles by Jim Wynn, Bond and Bob Aspromonte produced one run and Bond scored the other on Bob Bailey's error after advancing to third on Rusty Staub's long fly.

The Dodgers and Phillies tangled in the only other game scheduled in the majors, with Koufax going for his 10th straight victory against Philadelphia.

But the Phillies, triggered by Johnny Callison's homer, jumped on the ace Dodger left-hander for three runs in the first inning and that was it.

There was no indication that Koufax had suffered any recurrence of the arthritic condition that has troubled him this season. He was lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth inning after surrendering seven hits.

After Callison's homer with one out, Richie Allen singled and Dick Stuart drove him in with a double. Stuart scored when Al Ferrara misjudged Cookie Rojas' drive and it sailed over his head for a triple.

Rojas scored the final Philadelphia run in the ninth when he walked, stole second and came home on Clay Dalrymple's single. That turned out to be decisive.

Berkshire Downs Sets Big Opener

BERKSHIRE DOWNS, Hancock, Mass. — Activity mounted over the weekend at Berkshire Downs as plans were being completed for Saturday for what loomed as the biggest opening in the five-year-history of this Hancock, Mass., course, when a 10-race program, starting at 2 p. m., will usher in the 1965 thoroughbred racing in Western Massachusetts.

Two of the busiest men on the grounds were Track Superintendent Nick Marino and Stall Superintendent Tony Cimino. Marino had his crew around the entire course putting everything in spic-and-span shape and equipment was sent over the half-mile track to keep it in top condition. Many horses have been galloping and working over the course.

Cimino was busier than the proverbial one-armed paperhanger trying to fit in the record number of thoroughbreds shipping in for the meeting. Already the entire complement of stalls on the grounds is bulging with adjoining farms, as far away as upstate New York, being utilized to handle the overflow.

UCCG Golf Team Is Beaten, 4-1

Kevin Shay of Orange topped Brian Joy, 5 and 4 while Ron Speedling of the visitors won the 18th hole to topple Pat Fleming, 1-up.

Ulster has a tie and a loss in its two starts.

In the only contest of the night, Mrs. Arlene Wilson of Woodstock defeated Mrs. Betty Phillips for the post of sergeant-at-arms. All other nominees for the officers and directors were unopposed.

Other line officers re-elected were: Amy Miller, first vice president; Rosalie Burgher, second vice president; Helen Brosie, elected to first term as secretary; Ann Hinkley, treasurer.

Directors Named

tha Petersen, Dorothy Dou-sharm, Alice Gottschalk, June Van Kleeck, Anne Cummings, Dorothy Crantz, Ethel Howard, Josephine Smith, Marian Whitaker, Mary Mills, Betty Phillips, Margery Horak, Evelyn Schaffert, June Kolts, Elizabeth Del Duca, Marge Harder, Adeline Teague, Charlotte Lyon, Jean Henderson, Agnes Smith and Marilyn Grassi of New Paltz, who was added to the original list of nominees.

GUESS WHO?
One of the best-dressed ballplayers of all time, this former infielder also maintains close ties with the Hollywood set. A guy with a very famous nickname, he shares it now with someone else. Had a stormy playing, as well as managerial career, and is not one of the favorites of the umpiring set.

Prix d' Monticello Slated

Grundy, McGee To Participate Saturday, May 8

MONTICELLO, N. Y. — Jim Grundy and Phil McGee, two popular Monticello Raceway driving stars, today consented to handle entries in the unique Prix d' Monticello on May 8.

Each will pilot racers from their respective stables when the Mighty M turns back the pages of history while hosting the revival of ancient road racing.

Grundy, runner-up in dash victories at Monticello Raceway last season with Billy Popping, has named Worthy K. as his entry for the race over the main street in Monticello, N. Y. McGee, personable head trainer for the small but select Warren Holst stable, has elected to go with S. E. Phil.

Worthy K., a trotter, is an eight-year-old gelding owned by the Worthy Stables of South Fallsburgh, N. Y. The veteran campaigner has a lifetime mark of 2:06 2/5 taken over a half-mile track and won three races last year.

His opponent in the first of the two-art vent, S. E. Phil, has the advantage of age but does not have as fast a time to his credit. A pacing stallion, S. E. Phil is a four-year-old with a best time mark of 2:09 on a half-mile oval.

A Half-Mile Distance

half-mile distance before coming back, after a brief rest, to take on two yet unnamed steeds at a similar route. Most horsemen agree that it should be a close match since reports have it that S. E. Phil is training well and can negotiate the mile distance much faster than his record indicates.

Also, it is very rare when a trotter races against a pacer in this day and age. Significantly, however, matches of this type were quite common when road and steeple racing was popular around the turn of the century.

To make the battle even more realistic, Worthy K. and S. E. Phil will be hooked to ancient high-wheeled sulkies, just as they did it decades ago. Drivers Grundy and McGee will be perched high up over their horses' backs in an unfamiliar position quite different from the one in a modern racing sulky.

Terp Frosh Star Is 40-Year Old World War Vet

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Bill Flynn, a combat veteran of World War II and 40-year-old father of three, has embarked on a new career as a student at the University of Maryland.

Hitting the books again after a 22-year lapse is hard enough, but Flynn is also doing some hitting as a member of Maryland's freshman baseball team.

The new career was borne of necessity when Flynn's Army service was cut short by a Department of the Army policy that all officers have college degrees. He was retired as a captain last August after 20 years of duty.

The thought of this forced retirement gnawed away at Bill Flynn. It was partly responsible for his taking a whirl at baseball with players half his age and not much older than his 15-year-old son.

"I guess I went out for the team to prove I still had the capacity to perform physically with younger people, as well as the mental capacity to stay with them in class," Flynn said.

Neither the class work nor baseball has come easy, but Flynn is enjoying the challenge. Flynn is majoring in business education, with his future set on a teaching career. He wants to minor in history.

Baseball Comeback
During the Christmas vacation, Flynn began thinking of a baseball comeback. He had played the sport in high school at Easton, Pa., and for 14 years in the Army—where he also managed teams for nine seasons.

"I talked it over with the varsity coach, Jack Jackson, and he sort of chuckled," Flynn said. "But after pumping me with questions, he found out I knew a little bit about the game."

Flynn's wife, Marjorie, who has resumed her elementary school teaching career while Bill goes to college, and who is expecting in June, didn't object. "After laying off from baseball for about three years, I had trouble getting into shape," Flynn said, "and the day after a game, I knew I had been in one."

Flynn, a left-handed batter, collected four hits in 12 at-bats for the frosh while playing first or second base. He also helps direct the squad when Coach Whitey Stevens goes on the road with the varsity.

Bold Lad, Bugler Clash in Trial

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The two equine giants of the 91st Kentucky Derby hooked up today in the one mile of the $15,000 Derby Trial while Tom Rolfe, the mighty mite of the probable field of 12, gained support by doing nothing more than gallop around Churchill Downs track.

Bold Lad and Bugler, heading a field of seven in the Trial, are the two biggest horses in the field which will break from the Churchill Downs starting barrier at 4:45 p. m., EST, Saturday. Each stands around 16 1/2 hands or 67 inches and weighs in the neighborhood of 1,100 pounds.

By contrast, Tom Rolfe from the Powhatan Stable of Raymond Guest, U.S. ambassador to Ireland, is a midjet. He stands a mere 15 1/2 hands—62 inches—measured from the withers. And he wouldn't tip the scales at more than 975 pounds.

Yet within the last few days, Tom Rolfe has gained strong support chiefly because of his fine performance in last Saturday's seven-furlong Stepping Stone, in which he poured on the heat in the last eighth mile to measure Native Charger, Flamingo and Florida Derby winner, by 1 1/4 lengths.

Bold Lad on Spot
Unless Bold Lad turns in a brilliant performance today, Tom Rolfe is likely to wind up one of the top choices Saturday along with Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Lucky Debonair, the Santa Anita Derby and Blue Grass Stakes winner, and Mrs. Ben Cohen's streaking stretch runner, Hail To All.

Small horses have won the Derby. Determine, the 1954 winner, stood an even 15 hands. Clyde Van Dusen, who won in 1929 as Lightning and Thunder belted the track, measured 15.1 while Northern Dancer, who showed the way home last year, was the same height as Tom Rolfe.

Prix d' Monticello Slated

Grundy, McGee To Participate Saturday, May 8

MONTICELLO, N. Y. — Jim Grundy and Phil McGee, two popular Monticello Raceway driving stars, today consented to handle entries in the unique Prix d' Monticello on May 8.

Each will pilot racers from their respective stables when the Mighty M turns back the pages of history while hosting the revival of ancient road racing.

Grundy, runner-up in dash victories at Monticello Raceway last season with Billy Popfinger, has named Worthy K. as his entry for the race over the main street in Monticello, N. Y. McGee, personal head trainer for the small but select Warren Holst stable, has elected to go with S. E. Phil.

Worthy K., a trotter, is an eight-year-old gelding owned by the Worthy Stables of South Fallsburgh, N. Y. The veteran campaigner has a lifetime mark of 2:06 2/5 taken over a half-mile track and won three races last year.

His opponent in the first of the two-act vent, S. E. Phil, has the advantage of age but does not have as fast a time to his credit. A pacing stallion, S. E. Phil is a four-year-old with a best time mark of 2:09 on a half-mile oval.

A Half-Mile Distance

The pair will go at it over a half-mile distance before coming back, after a brief rest, to take on two yet unnamed steeds at a similar route. Most horsemen agree that it should be a close match since reports have it that S. E. Phil is training well and can negotiate the mile distance much faster than his record indicates.

Also, it is very rare when a trotter races against a pacer in this day and age. Significantly, however, matches of this type were quite common when road and street racing was popular around the turn of the century.

To make the battle even more realistic, Worthy K. and S. E. Phil will be hooked to ancient high-wheeled sulky, just as they did it decades ago. Drivers Grundy and McGee will be perched high up over their horses' backs in an unfamiliar position quite different from the one in a modern racing sulky.

Terp Frosh Star Is 40-Year Old World War Vet

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Bill Flynn, a combat veteran of World War II and 40-year-old father of three, has embarked on a new career as a student at the University of Maryland.

Hitting the books again after a 22-year lapse is hard enough, but Flynn is also doing some hitting as a member of Maryland's freshman baseball team.

The new career was borne of necessity when Flynn's Army service was cut short by a Department of the Army policy that all officers have college degrees. He was retired as a captain last August after 20 years of duty.

The thought of this forced retirement gnawed away at Bill Flynn. It was partly responsible for his taking a whirl at baseball with younger people, as well as the mental capacity to stay with them in class," Flynn said.

"I guess I went out for the team to prove I still had the capacity to perform physically with younger people," he said. "The mental capacity to stay with them in class," Flynn said.

Neither the class work nor baseball has come easy, but Flynn is enjoying the challenge.

Flynn is majoring in business education, with his future set on a teaching career. He wants to minor in history.

Baseball Comeback

During the Christmas vacation, Flynn began thinking of a baseball comeback. He had played the sport in high school at Easton, Pa., and for 14 years in the Army—where he also managed teams for nine seasons.

"I talked it over with the varsity coach, Jack Jackson, and he sort of chuckled," Flynn said. "But after pumping me with questions, he found out I knew a little

Stokowski Explains:

Sneezes Not in Score

NEW YORK (AP) — "That was not in the score," said Conductor Leopold Stokowski when two sneezes exploded in a Carnegie Hall audience just after the world premiere of Charles Ives' Fourth Symphony.

The explanation was apt. Ives' symphony has been called the most difficult ever written for performers.

Several sections of Monday night's unusually large orchestra played different rhythms and meters simultaneously, and it took three conductors to keep things running smoothly.

The American Symphony Orchestra's performance drew prolonged applause; Stokowski's explanation drew prolonged laughter.

Advance Sale Is Good For Clay-Liston Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — The advance sale for the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston heavyweight title fight at Boston May 25 already has doubled the figures for the postponed bout, says Harold Conrad, publicity chief for the show.

Originally scheduled for Nov. 16, the championship was postponed on Nov. 13 when Clay had to undergo an emergency hernia operation.

1-Day Comeback For Stan Musial

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan Musial made a one-day comeback Monday—as a pitcher.

"If Warren Spahn can keep going at 44, why can't I?" quipped the former St. Louis Cardinal star outfielder, who retired after the 1963 season.

Southpaw Musial got his chance when another former Cardinal, Tom Poholsky, couldn't be located to pitch special batting practice to Ken Boyer, who was testing his sore back.

"I've got the highest-priced batting practice pitcher in baseball," Boyer said of the Cardinal vice president, who also is vice president of a bank and owner of a restaurant.

Musial warmed up in the clubhouse before taking the mound for his tryout. His catcher was Ed MacAuley, former professional basketball star and coach.

"He's still got some eligibility left," MacAuley said with a straight face. "Once a pitcher, always a pitcher."

Musial began his playing career on the mound and had an 18-5 record in the minor leagues in 1940 with a strong arm and a wild pitch. He injured his shoulder that year and switched to the outfield.

He made a brief comeback on the mound in 1952 when he pitched to Chicago's Frank Baumholtz in a publicity stunt the last day of the season. Musial had beaten out Baumholtz for the batting title the day before.

"I've still got something left," Musial said as he whipped a pitch toward Boyer, who slammed it against the left field wall.

Stokowski Explains: Sneezes Not in Score

NEW YORK (AP) — "That was not in the score," said Conductor Leopold Stokowski when two sneezes exploded in a Carnegie Hall audience just after the world premiere of Charles Ives' Fourth Symphony.

The explanation was apt. Ives' symphony has been called the most difficult ever written for performers.

Several sections of Monday night's unusually large orchestra played different rhythms and meters simultaneously, and it took three conductors to keep things running smoothly.

The American Symphony Orchestra's performance drew prolonged applause; Stokowski's explanation drew prolonged laughter.

Advance Sale Is Good For Clay-Liston Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — The advance sale for the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston heavyweight title fight at Boston May 25 already has doubled the figures for the postponed bout, says Harold Conrad, publicity chief for the show.

Originally scheduled for Nov. 16, the championship was postponed on Nov. 13 when Clay had to undergo an emergency hernia operation.

1-Day Comeback For Stan Musial

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan Musial made a one-day comeback Monday—as a pitcher.

"If Warren Spahn can keep going at 44, why can't I?" quipped the former St. Louis Cardinal star outfielder, who retired after the 1963 season.

Southpaw Musial got his chance when another former Cardinal, Tom Poholsky, couldn't be located to pitch special batting practice to Ken Boyer, who was testing his sore back.

"I've got the highest-priced batting practice pitcher in baseball," Boyer said of the Cardinal vice president, who also is vice president of a bank and owner of a restaurant.

Musial warmed up in the clubhouse before taking the mound for his tryout. His catcher was Ed MacAuley, former professional basketball star and coach.

"He's still got some eligibility left," MacAuley said with a straight face. "Once a pitcher, always a pitcher."

Musial began his playing career on the mound and had an 18-5 record in the minor leagues in 1940 with a strong arm and a wild pitch. He injured his shoulder that year and switched to the outfield.

He made a brief comeback on the mound in 1952 when he pitched to Chicago's Frank Baumholtz in a publicity stunt the last day of the season. Musial had beaten out Baumholtz for the batting title the day before.

"I've still got something left," Musial said as he whipped a pitch toward Boyer, who slammed it against the left field wall.

"No trick pitches," Musial continued, skipping gingerly off the way of a line drive through the box.

"I never had much confidence before in my pitching," he said. "I was always wild. But how about that control now?"

"He shows a lot of poise out there for a rookie pitcher," MacAuley said.

About that time, Musial began swishing his arm a bit and asked if the doctor who examined Boyer was still around.

Boyer's sore back, by the way, turned out to be all right, and he is expected to play in Milwaukee tonight.

Musial went back into retirement.

Conscience—the voice that tells you not to do something after you have done it.

Russell Sage, the financier, had a wide reputation as a man difficult to separate from his money. A couple of promoters approached him one day and tried to sell him on a scheme they had. Sage talked with them for a while but said he could give them no definite answer as yet. Telling them that he would communicate with them in a few days he showed them out of the office.

One of the promoters seemed quite optimistic and voiced the opinion to his partner that he thought Sage was pretty well sold on their proposition.

"I don't know," replied the other sceptically. He seemed too suspicious to me. Didn't you notice that, after shaking hands with me, he started to count his fingers?"

Engagement—in war, a battle. In love, the Salubrious calm that precedes the real hostilities.

Saugerties Attorney Seeks Nod of GOP for Surrogate

Announcement was made this week that Attorney Richard B. Overbakh of Saugerties would seek the Republican nomination for surrogate of Ulster County.

He maintains offices in Kingston where his general practice over the past 27 years has been mostly in the Surrogate's Court and where he has represented on occasion all sides in small as well as large estates involving millions of dollars. He has also done corporation, trial and appellate work in all courts of the state.

A native of Saugerties, Attorney Overbakh was graduated from Saugerties High School. He received his BA Degree from Cornell University and LL.B. Degree from Albany Law School. He was admitted to the Bar and began his practice in Saugerties. In 1939 he transferred his office to Kingston. Before his service in World War II he was associated with the district attorney's office and the county judge's office of this county.

Overbakh was married to Elizabeth Donovan in 1938. They have four children, two of whom are college graduates. For the past quarter century, Overbakh has been engaged in many political and community activities including those of his church.

Other GOP hopefuls who have declared they would seek the nomination for surrogate include Kingston City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman, County Attorney Arthur A. Davis Jr., and Louis P. Francello, who is attorney for the Town of Saugerties.

Also prominently mentioned is Maurice Goldberg of Woodstock, a Kingston attorney and former assistant attorney general of New York.

Incumbent Surrogate Judge Francis X. Tucker (R) has indicated that he would not seek reelection in order to devote full time to his law practice.

Lockheed Test Pilot Killed in Plane Crash

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Lockheed Aircraft Co. says that a pilot who was killed when his high-flying U2 reconnaissance plane crashed on the desert was on a routine mission.

The victim was identified only as a Lockheed test pilot. The plane crashed Monday afternoon just outside the boundaries of the base.

Lockheed, of Burbank, Calif., is the manufacturer of the plane, existence of which was secret until May 1960 when Francis Gary Powers was shot down in one over the Soviet Union.

Agrees to Conference

PARIS (AP) — The Soviet Union agreed today to a French proposal to call a five-power conference on disarmament to include the world's atomic powers, reliable French sources reported.

The sources said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko agreed to the French proposal in his second series of talks with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Bids for Site Development at County Building

Bids for site development of the area adjacent to the new County Office Building at Fair and Main Streets are being solicited by the Building Committee. Bids will be opened at the office of the Board of Supervisors at 2 p. m. on May 5.

Specifications may be obtained at the office of Augustus R. Schriwag Associates, 41 Pearl Street.

The plans are for pavement, walks and landscaping of the area. Work is progressing on the demolition of the old County Clerk's office building at Fair and Main Streets, adjacent to the new office building. When this work is completed, main entrance to the new office building will be from Fair Street. Presently temporary entrance is from Main Street. There is also an entrance to the building from Main Street at the easterly end of the building.

Foreign Decorations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved and sent to the Senate a bill which would permit U.S. servicemen to accept decorations from the South Vietnamese or any of its allies in the Viet Nam war.

The Constitution forbids U.S. citizens from accepting foreign decorations without consent of Congress.

State Council On Arts Praised By Rockefeller

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, pointing to the work of the State Council on the Arts established five years ago at his behest, says New York State has proved that government support of the arts need not mean government control.

In a speech Monday to more than 400 delegates attending the sixth assembly of the American National Theater and Academy, Rockefeller said the arts are "for the many, the people as a whole."

Rockefeller estimated that the lives of "at least a million New York residents in smaller communities" had been enriched by council-supported programs. He said the council also had strengthened the "broad range of performing art groups in other major cities."

He said the council was "the first organization of its kind to be created either at the state level or federal level."

"I am happy to report," he added, "that more than 25 other states have followed suit since then, and last year the federal government finally acted and created the National Council on the Arts."

Drunken Driving Charged After Two-Car Crash

Two drivers were injured and one of them cited for three traffic violations after a two-car collision Monday afternoon on Route 9 near Mills Cross Road in Dutchess County.

State Police at Rhinebeck substation said Gault Applegarth Jr., 51, of Prospect Street, Staatsburg, was arrested before Peace Officer John Diehl, Town of Hyde Park on charges of driving while intoxicated, failure to yield right of way and failure to keep right. He posted $100 bail for a hearing Wednesday.

Troopers said Applegarth suffered left eye cuts while the other driver, Robert Anderson, 29, of Anderson Road, Dover Plains, suffered a concussion. Both drivers were taken to St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, for treatment.

Troopers said Applegarth was driving south on Rt. 9 and made a left turn to enter Mills Road when his vehicle struck a car driven north on Route 9 by Anderson.

Trooper Richard Logan investigated.

Bulldozer Cuts Hot Line to Moscow

COPENHAGEN (AP) — A bulldozer cut the hot line between Washington and Moscow Monday, local newspapers reported.

They said the line was dead for 16 minutes before the emergency line via Tanglez was established.

In order to prevent sabotage and listening-in, the line is constantly switched from one cable to another. Monday morning the ordinary postal cable between Denmark and Holland was used.

The line was reported cut near Ringsted, west of Copenhagen, by a bulldozer during road repairs.

Explosion of 1 pounds of uranium-235 releases more energy than 2.6 million pounds of coal, according to Britannica Junior Encyclopedia.

New Shop-Rite Market Opens On Wednesday in Port Ewen

It will be Shop-Rite north and south of Kingston when a giant new Shop-Rite supermarket averaging more than half a city block long in both directions opens its doors at 10 a. m. Wednesday at the site of the former Pantry Market off Route 9W in Port Ewen.

More than 30,000 square feet in area, the new Shop-Rite giant will offer customers the conveniences of 11 high speed checkout counters and parking for more than 1,000 cars. In addition, there will be a service snack bar in operation.

Richard Rosenberg, president of the Big V Supermarkets which operate Shop-Rite, said the new operation will be the sixth supermarket opened by Big V in five years. He said that, "No expense has been spared" to make the Port Ewen supermarket "one of the most appealing and attractive in this area."

Stresses Modern Facilities

Rosenberg told The Freeman that employment was more than doubled for the new operation and the Port Ewen facility "is a superbly modern unit, with every food department, a local shopper would look for, including service appetizer, fish and bakery departments. And, of course, the lowest prices in this or any town."

The other local Shop-Rite supermarket is located at Rt. 9W and Boice's Lane about a mile north of Kingston.

Rosenberg said the new Port Ewen store, which will maintain store hours from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday and Saturday, 9 to 9:30 Wednesday and Thursday and 9 to 10 Friday, will be managed by Francis McCaffery. John Marino is assistant manager. Other department managers include John McCaffery, produce; Frank Meehan, meat; Harold Reed, dairy, and Theresa Boice, office.

Growth Phenomenal

Growth of the Shop-Rite Markets, as reflected in the sales expansion of its parent warehouse, Wakefern Food Corporation, according to the firm executives. Since March 1961, they said Wakefern has expanded from $150,000 to $300,000,000 in annual sales; has increased the warehouse volume a thousand-fold, and itself does more than $600,000,000 in retail volume annually.

Shop-Rite has over 150 stores throughout the entire state of New Jersey, Delaware, New York, Pennsylvania and in Massachusetts.

As a co-operative group Shop-Rite members understand the necessity of working together for the good of the members and consumers. This philosophy is exemplified by the nearly 100 per cent perfect attendance at weekly meetings held every Monday afternoon. At these meetings members gather in the general board room at headquarters to exchange ideas and information. At this time items are also prepared for the following week's advertising, and, by actually sharing in the preparation of items to be advertised, members are able to speak for their customers.

In its marketing areas, Shop-Rite Super Markets have attained the enviable status of low-price leadership among independent super markets. One of the reasons it has been able to maintain this leadership is its refusal to enter stamp plans or any plans that add to the price of food. Because Shop-Rite so strongly believes in realistically low prices its "Why Pay More" slogan has become both the policy and the pledge of the chain.

Both Wakefern and Shop-Rite believe the future growth and success depends as much on leadership as on the co-operation of members. For that reason officers and directors of both groups are chosen with care. Shop-Rite Super Market officers, elected from the membership, are Herbert Brody, president, Seymour Barsky, vice-president, Milton Perlmutter, treasurer, and Robert Henry, secretary.
